PLANT TO COST $250,000

McGavin Bakery Extends

New Building and Latest Automatic Machinery to Be Provided

The immediate expenditure of $250,000 for new buildings and automatic equipment, which will make their plant one of the most modern in the whole Dominion, is announced today by McGavin Limited.

Plans for the new building, which will be constructed at 107th avenue and 100th street, call for a two-story brick structure with full-sized basement, the dimensions of which will be 100 by 150 feet in addition to the present bakery plant facilities of this firm.

The plans have been prepared by Sidney Comber, of Montreal, recognized as the foremost bakery architect in Canada, and who has been responsible for designing practically all the larger baking plants in the Dominion.

Call for Tenders Shortly

Tenders will be called for within a few days, it is stated, and it is expected that actual construction work will be under way within a fortnight. Work toward completing the structure and the installation of the machinery will be rushed in the hope that the official opening of the plant may be held on September 1st next.

The announcement of McGavin, Limited, today, marks another happy epoch in the industrial life of Edmonton, and the crowning achievement in the history of this firm's spectacular business progress during the past 15 years in this city. It will be a monument to the business zeal of James McGavin, president of the firm, and to his brothers, who have always kept in sight the importance of providing a good product of the highest quality, and one which can readily be vouched for by its thousands of customers throughout the prairie province and British Columbia.

Success Crowns Efforts

No little credit for the success of this firm is due to Archie McGavin, vice-president and secretary-treasurer of the company; and Wm. McGavin, director and sales manager; while another brother, Allan McGavin, is manager of the company's plant in Denver, Colo., with Bert McGavin acting as secretary-treasurer of this branch.

ELOCK DENIES ALL CHARGES OF ACCUSERS

Ex-Detective on Stand Says He Did Not Seek Bribe

General denial to all allegations made on the witness stand by Osanti Gorgichuk regarding conversations about demands for and payment of money to "fix" an appeal so that John Gorgichuk would not have to serve a sentence of two years' imprisonment, was given before Mr. Justice Walsh in the criminal court Friday morning by former detective William Elock, Alberta Provincial Police during his trial for perjury.

It was alleged that Elock had demanded $1000 from Gorgichuk to "fix" judges and lawyers concerned in the appeal.

On the stand, Elock declared he had never at any time had any conversation with Gorgichuk about money and none had been paid to him.

Accused said he had met Osanti and John Gorgichuk in a local hotel on Friday, March 4, 1927. They were with other men. Nothing was said about money.

Money Handed Over

In other respects accused's story coincided with evidence given on Thursday afternoon by Mike Dromrsky regarding his movements from Saturday night, March 5 to Monday morning, the period in which Gorgichuk alleged he paid over $900 "fix" money to the detective.

Elock said that on one occasion he had taken $200 from Gorgichuk to hand over to the latter's lawyer for counsel fees. This sum, according to

SHIP LOCKED IN LAKE ICE

BRANTFORD, Ont., March 30.—With a heavy gale blowing and ice floes moving more rapidly, the Port Dover tug Altawandron, now abandoned, and the rescue tug Jean F., caught in the ice in a futile attempt to reach the first-named boat, still occupied the same position about three-quarters of a mile apart today, although the entire floe has drifted several miles and the exact position of the craft is not known. Despite the gale, a heavy fog has rendered visibility very poor off Long Point and the lighthouse keeper reports that he is now unable to see any sign of either boat.

The Altawandron has been completely abandoned but the Jean F. has a crew of eight men aboard and while no anxiety is felt, their position threatens to become more dangerous if the ice floes break up.

Yesterday afternoon an aeroplane dropped provisions to the Jean F. They are well provided with fuel and food and no fears are entertained on that score.

Private Importation of Liquor Is Banned

OTTAWA, March 30—Legislation prohibiting the importation of liquor by any private individual into any province where government liquor control is in effect, will be introduced this session. The effect of the enactment will be that only the governments themselves will be enabled legally to import liquor.

Only two provinces of the dominion—Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island—will not be affected. The remaining seven provinces suggested the proposed legislation at the provincial conference of premiers held in Ottawa last fall.

The bill will be introduced in the commons by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice.

WALL OF ICE 40 FEET HIGH BLOCKS RIVER

Farmers Flee Their Homes in Peril—Seed Grain Wlil Be Short

SASKATOON, Sask., March 30.—Between 30,000 and 40,000 acres of farm land under water, varying in depth from a few feet to an average depth of 10 feet; twenty-nine known families and probably more without homes and having lost most of their belongings, also valuable seed grain, which will deal a serious blow to farming operations this spring in the district. Such was the situation in brief this morning following the disastrous flood in the Pike Lake area, which commenced early Thursday morning and reached its peak at night.

Jammed to a height of probably 40 feet at a point also directly opposite the Pike Lake summer resort and on the other side of the lake and reaching back for a distance of more than ten miles, the ice massed in the river is being gradually thrust northward and downstream by terrific water pressure as the river rises rapidly.

Small Farms Hit

This was the cause of the flood.

Unable to go further than the huge ice barrier, the water swelled over the low banks of the river valley and spread over the countryside. The flooded area is roughly three townships in length and two and one-half sections in width and reaches from a point six miles north of the lake and on the east side of it to a distance of about 13 miles south of the lake. In this valley are the homes of farmers, some of them, the smaller ones, now inundated to the extent that only the roofs are visible.

Various estimates as to the number of cattle drowned in the flood were given this morning by residents of the district, but it is not believed that the loss in this respect will be particularly heavy. One farmer alone lost 10 head of cattle but it was impossible to make much of a further check-up. This will take time as will also other estimates as to the total damage as a result of the flood.

Warns Neighbors

It was about seven o'clock Thursday morning that first signs of a flood were noticed by Fred Kay, living farthest south of the lake in the valley. An old timer of the district and having seen other floods, he at once decided to move his family and his belongings out of the valley. He warned his neighbors and, while some took heed, others did not feel at the time that the flood would reach any serious proportions.

Not many hours had elapsed before they found themselves trapped and had to resort to all sorts of extreme means to make their ways in safety out of the valley.

Stories are told of farmers floating out of the valley in wagon boxes, others driving out in hay-ricks, others loading up their wagons and forcing their horses through the quickly-mounting waters in the dead of night. This morning the valley is deserted, a great panorama of water, with various currents moving here and there bearing floating blocks of ice.

Curious Antics

The antics of the South Saskatchewan river in this case are curious and interesting. The ice break further up the river at Outlook appears to have been the primary cause of the flood. Massing downstream toward Pike Lake the ice became block-

Death Reveals Old Secret of Alleged Woman

SAPULA, Okla., March 30.—Frances Anderson of Los Angeles, at one time heralded as the world's champion "woman billiard player," in death disclosed the secret that "she" in reality was a man.

Frances Anderson ended "her" life yesterday in a hotel room here by slashing both wrists, throat, head and breast with safety razor blades. Letters, yellowed by age, were found in the full-length woman's stockings on the body to indicate death was by suicide.

The man was declared to have been known for more than 30 years in his profession as a "woman billiardist."

Newspaper clippings told of his travels as a billiard player and exhibitions given in many cities. He was about 60 years of age.

SALES TAX ON CITY'S GRAVEL IS DISPUTED

Mayor Bury's views that the city of Edmonton is not liable to pay sales tax on gravel taken from the city's pit and used on road maintenance within the municipality, are shared by M. J. Preudhomme, K.C., city solicitor of Winnipeg, who has also registered a protest with the Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of customs and excise.

In a letter to Mayor Bury, Mr. Preudhomme declares the objections, in his opinion, to be well founded. He argues that, in addition to the points stressed by Mayor Bury, gravel and crushed rock are not manufactured within the meaning of the present federal act.

He points out that a canvass of the municipal members of the Union of Canadian Municipalities discloses that of the 56 members 22 own their own pits, 19 own quarries, while 12 use crushed rock and stone from their quarries and 16 use gravel from their pits, but in only one case, that of Renfrew, Ont., has a federal sales tax been paid.

GIVE REASONS FOR REFUSAL

OTTAWA, March 30.—The radio broadcasting license of the International Bible Students' association, expiring tomorrow, will not be renewed. The ground of refusal of the department of marine and fisheries, it is understood, is that the bible talks, which this association has been broadcasting, do not meet with the approval of the listening public.

The general trend of these bible talks, it is said, is that all other churches are corrupt.

TIPPERARY TIM IS WINNER OF RACE CLASSIC

Billy Barton, an American Owned and Bred Horse, Wins Second Place

AINTREE, England, March 30.—Only two horses of the 42 starters in the historic Grand National, finished today in one of the most sensational runnings of this classic event since its inauguration in 1839.

Tipperary Tim, owned by H. S. Kenyon and ridden by J. Dutton, an amateur, proved to have the stamina and luck to win. He was a 100 to 1 shot.

Billy Barton, owned by Howard Bruce, of Baltimore, lost his chance to become the first American-bred horse to win the historic chase by an unlucky fall at the last fence. He was remounted, however, by his Irish jockey, Cullinan, and finished the course, capturing second place.

The rest of the field, jockeys and horses, were littered all over the gruelling grounds.

Severe Test

Billy Barton was a 33 to 1 shot.

The Aintree course is regarded as the most difficult in the world, and is such a severe test that in all previous races most of the horses have fallen. The distance, four miles and 856 yards, is over a course covered with 30 formidable jumps and part of the course is over ploughed ground.

One of the most famous jumps is Beecher's Brook. This is a fence five feet high and three feet three inches wide. On the far side is a natural brook five and a half feet wide and there is a drop of six feet.

The water jump in front of the grandstand is fifteen feet across. It is a common occurrence for jockeys who have been thrown to remount and finish the race.

As Billy Barton came down the home stretch he was leading and there was a great uproar in the American section of the grandstand. Then there was a great lull—in taking the last fence the horse had fallen. Billy struggled to his feet and Cullinan mounted him in a flash, but it was too late, Tipperary Tim had cleared the fence and galloped into international fame at 100 to 1.

By the time the first round of the course had been completed there were only six horses left in the race. The other 36 horses had tumbled and thrown their riders at the difficult fences and water jumps. All of the favorites, including Sprig, which won the race last year, were out of the race.

The field of probable starters was cut down by seven last minute withdrawals—Flappers, Uncas Second, Postino, Bovril Third, Tony Lad, Pongo and Hackdalle, but Spear O'War, ridden by Brookes, was an added starter.

The race today was worth more than any previous National, owing to the large entry. The total value was roughly, $60,000.

Wins $15,000

SHERBROOKE, Que., March 30.—Tipperary Tim, winner of the Grand National at Liverpool today, enriched G. G. Playfair, 34 Northcliffe avenue, Montreal, by possibly $15,000. Playfair drew the winning ticket in the charity sweepstake of the Quebec provincial council of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League.

L. C. Baker, 80 Fourth street, West, Owen Sound, Ont., won second prize, some $5,000.

The draw took place at St. John's Que. Definite value of the winning tickets will be announced later.

Municipal Golf Links to Open Next Thursday

Get out the "plus-fours" from the moth-bag; daub a little white paint on your old Dunlops; rub a little vaseline over your dried up clubs and be prepared. This is just a timely warning in view of the announcement made Friday morning by City Engineer Haddow and in which Bert Gee, club professional, chimed in his approval, that the municipal golf course would be thrown open officially for the 1928 season next Thursday, April 5.

"We simply must be open before Good Friday," Mr. Gee said, "and with a gang of workmen busy, things should be in tip-top shape."

Under instructions from the city engineer, a pumping crew were despatched to Victoria Park to remove the surface water which is lying near the club house.

BYRD'S PLANE HEADS NORTH

WINNIPEG, March 30.—The giant tri-colored monoplane in which Commander Richard E. Byrd contemplates exploration of the Antarctic, including a flight to the South Pole late this year, headed for the snow tracts of northern Manitoba today.

The plane, which is piloted by Floyd Bennett and Bernt Balchen, who already have written their names on aviation's scroll of fame, took off from St. Charles flying field just before noon. Under normal flying conditions the plane should reach its destination, The Pas, Man., around 4 o'clock this afternoon. The Pas is 360 miles north of here.

With the noted airmen were two Detroiters, one a representative of the Ford Aircraft company, which built the machine, and the other a photographer, who will film the movements of the plane on its trials under winter conditions.

Before taking off, the plane was loaded with skiis and other equipment required for the test flights.

On reaching The Pas, the plane will be re-fuelled and then flown to some northern point where snow and ice is plentiful.

Bennett, before departing, indicated the party would remain in the north for about four days.

The tired aviators landed at 1:14:10 p.m. (eastern standard time). They brought their machine to earth about a mile from where they took off and taxied south to the spot they left last Wednesday morning. They still had gasoline in their tanks, the motor was still running.

CALGARY TRAIL IN GOOD SHAPE

E. W. Sewell, Calgary business man, driving a Pontiac coupe, made the trip from Calgary to Edmonton in 5 hours and 10 minutes Thursday morning. On arrival in Edmonton he went and reported at the board of trade and stated that the road was in first class condition all the way.

The Edmonton board of trade has received information that the roads at Camrose, Stony Plain, Vegreville, Vermilion and Morinville have opened up satisfactorily to motor traffic.

Information received from the Calgary branch of the Alberta Motor association states that with the exception of the road from Calgary to Drumheller cars are able to travel from the main highways leading from Calgary. Motorists are not advised to try the Drumheller-Hanna trail since, owing to the recent heavy snow storms, there are several very bad spots.

Several tourists have already arrived at Banff and report that the road from Calgary is in fair condition up to the park gates and excellent from there on to Lake Louise.

COAL MEN TO HEAR PLANS FOR GRADING

Domestic coal operators of the province will meet members of the Alberta cabinet at the legislative buildings on Friday afternoon to discuss the marketing of Alberta coal in Ontario consequent upon the rate of $6.75 a ton recently set by the Dominion government.

Speaking of this meeting, Premier J. E. Brownlee said the government's stand on the matter would be outlined and an opportunity would be given the operators to make such representations as they saw fit.

The government had definitely decided to set up a standards board of four, the personnel of which had been selected. Subject to the approval of the operators the board will commence work immediately.

Board to Pass on Coal

In addition to discussing the board, the Friday meeting will go into the question of what means of publicity should be adopted and the names of the grades of coal to be shipped out. An effort will be made to reach an agreement with the railways whereby only coal passed by the board will be carried east.

The premier wired Premier G. Howard Ferguson, of Ontario, to see if he would appoint one member to the board. The Ontario Premier consented and nominated J. A. Ellis, Ontario fuel controller.

As the shipments under the new rate become effective April 15 the premier is anxious to have the board function immediately.

Premier Brownlee has asked Mr. Ellis to come here at the earliest possible moment.

AL SMITH'S NEW SON-IN-LAW-TO-BE

Catherine Smith, youngest daughter of New York state's chief executive (center), has announced her engagement to Francis P. Quillinan of Troy, N.Y. Here they are with Mrs. Arthur Smith, Catherine's sister-in-law, at the announcement party.

MINISTERS TO GO TO OTTAWA ON SATURDAY

Premier J. E. Brownlee, Hon. Vernor W. Smith, minister of railways and telephones and Hon. R. G. Reid, provincial treasurer expect to leave Saturday morning for Ottawa and Montreal to confer with Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railway officials regarding the sale of the provincially owned railways.

In addition the Premier will consult members of the Dominion cabinet on such matters as the Spray Lakes power development, the return of the natural resources and the proposed amalgamation of the Alberta Provincial Police with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Hon. Mr. Reid will confer with the Dominion regarding the new Farm Loans Act which was passed at the recent session of the legislature to function in co-operation with the Dominion Act.

The Premier and Hon. Mr. Smith returned on Thursday from Lethbridge where they attended a meeting of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation and Colonization Company board.

The Premier said that practically all the land had been taken up and the demand was greater than the supply. Many problems of the scheme were being worked out such as the breaking up of large holdings. There was a feeling among some that the government should take over a larger share of the capital costs of the scheme.

Payment of dues was proceeding satisfactorily and about 80 per cent of the total had been accounted for to date.

SIAMESE?

Only in pinochle are you supposed to find two queens in one suit, yet Mary Burkholder and Nora Johnson of Lancaster, Pa., had no trouble getting into this one. The girls wouldn't identify the scale-breaker who owns it, but they admitted his waistline is 58 inches.

CANNON BALL BACK TO FOE BY CANADIAN

TORONTO, March 30.—In an article on Burritt's Rapids, Augusta Township, Grenville, Ont., the birthplace of Lieut.-Col. T. A. Kidd, member of the Ontario legislature for Kingston, the "Bystander at the Office Window" in a recent issue of The Globe, said Burritt's Rapids was called after Daniel Burritt, United Empire Loyalist, who, with his five sons, settled in North Augusta in 1784. In that year many British Lolayists came to the province of Ontario from New York state.

"Bystander" says: "Burritt's Rapids was the birthplace of one of the oldest Masonic lodges in Ontario, and therefore it is not surprising that Col. Kidd is one of the leading Freemasons of the eastern district. The Burritts were an old military family, and many war stories about them have been told in Leeds and Grenville counties. In the family possession there is a cannon ball which, during the war of 1812-14, left Ogdensburg on an unfriendly visit and entered the British officers' mess at Prescott, where it made short work of the breakfast table. Col. Daniel Burritt, son of the founder of the family in Ontario, ordered the ball back through a British cannon with his compliments. The ball struck the court house at Ogdensburg on its return trip and was preserved as a souvenir.

"After the war, when the two towns on either side of the St. Lawrence were friendly again, the cannon ball was given to one of Col. Burritt's family. Dr. W. H. Burritt, a grandson of Daniel Burritt, who practiced medicine at Smith's Falls from 1836 until 1870, and was one of those grand old country practitioners who was friend and counsellor in the district as well as physician. He moved later to Peterboro, where he died in 1886.

PRISONERS DIE

TULAGI, Solomon Islands, March 30.—Chief Noriu and ten natives, arrested in connection with the massacre of British officials at Sinaraga on the northeast coast of Malaita island, last year, have died in captivity. Twenty-six natives, including Chief Basano, were sick today. The illness is understood to be dysentery caused by the diet of goat meat and lack of exercise.

QUAKE REGISTERED

WASHINGTON, March 30.—A rather severe earthquake was registered at Georgetown university, beginning at 12:19 o'clock this morning, reaching a maximum intensity at 1 o'clock and lasting altogether two hours. Director Tondorf estimated its distance from Washington at 7,000 miles.

QUITS LEADERSHIP

CANBERRA, Australia, March 30.—Matthew Charlton, leader of the Labor opposition in the house of representatives, has resigned the leadership owing to ill health. He has been leader of the federal party for six years and represents the constituency of Hunter, New South Wales, in the commonwealth parliament.

NONE OF OUR BUSINESS

The Government of Canada has decided that the treaty between Great Britain and Egypt is not one to which it is necessary or desirable that Canada should be a party, a view with which the Government of Great Britain accords, and with which the Government of Egypt probably also agrees. The responsibilities which Britain has assumed with regard to the realm of the Pharoahs, and the reciprocal responsibilities of Egypt toward Britain, are matters in the making of which Canada had no part and in the adjustment of which the Dominion has no interests at stake.

The invitation to Canada to participate, if it so desired, was a courteous recognition on the part of the Government of Great Britain of Canada's right to a say in a matter affecting the status of another part of the Empire. It was probably not expected at London that the invitation would be accepted, and there will be no misunderstanding there on account of its rejection.

FRANCE'S ARMY

France, it is announced, now has a home army of 277,000 men and a colonial army of 247,000. Moreover, these are only skeleton armies, and capable of being expanded quickly into a combined force of 5,000,000, trained, equipped and officered. After the narrow escape it had in the last war, France evidently is not minded to rely solely for security on "scraps of paper" and written guarantees. It has built up, and intends to maintain, the mightiest military machine in Europe, available on short notice if the need should arise.

Has France developed militaristic ambitions? Its enemies, and the pacifists, will say so, but the rest of the world will surely make allowances. France is still suffering from nervous shock. The memory of that month in the summer of 1914 will not quickly fade. If it seems to be carrying preparedness beyond the apparent requirements of security, its late allies and the neutral nations should be slow to suspect its intentions. If the victim of a holdup afterwards carries a club it does not follow that he plans to assault his neighbors.

ANOTHER BOOM IN CHARTERS?

Parliament is being swamped with applications for railway charters. Most of these come from companies which have no railways, and no capital with which to build railways. The charters are being sought in hope that they can be sold; or in hope that after a while the Dominion or one of the provinces can be induced to bestow bond guarantees or land grants, or both, upon the aspiring promoters. Which is merely another proof that Canada is again in a period of progress, and that the success of the railway promoters of an earlier day is encouraging hopes in another generation of ambitious citizens.

The Minister of Railways lays down the rule that hereafter charters should only be granted, except in unusual circumstances, to the Canadian National or the Canadian Pacific. While it may not be possible to keep absolutely to that rule, it is a good one. The experience that Canada has had with "independent" railway companies should be enough for a while. In the long run either the Dominion or the C. P. R. has had to absorb most of these "independent" enterprises, invariably at the expense of the public. The flood of charters now before parliament is simply an invitation to the national legislature to put the taxpayers in line for another dose of the same.

THAT "WATER"

The thirsty but apprehensive citizen will welcome the assurance that he did not poison himself if he drank any of the vile-smelling and worse-tasting liquid that has been emerging from the water taps during the last week. It is good to know from the city's medical officer of health that the stuff is harmless from the hygienic point of view. It looks, tastes and smells as though it might produce almost anything this side of delirium tremens.

But while safety is the prime consideration in a water supply, it is not the only one. Water is not suitable for human consumption unless it is satisfying, as well as safe. And as a satisfier this fluid does leave a good deal to be desired. Safe it may be, and likely is, but the recommendation of the entire College of Physicians and Surgeons could not make it palatable. In fact the whole community has been enduring something like a drinking water famine, with a river full of water at their doors and a pumping plant that was working as usual.

The trouble is that the sedimentation and filtration apparatus had to be cut out of the system and cleaned. That it needed cleaning most people will admit without argument after this illustration of what goes into it. But the point is that our sedimentation and filtration facilities are limited, and when they have to be cleaned we must take the river water "straight." This means that until more tanks are provided, and more filtering machinery installed, we must expect a repetition of the last week's experiences every so often.

It ought to be easy to get money out of the tax-payers to provide a reserve of this kind of equipment which would make it unnecessary to shut down the whole plant when one unit needs cleaning.

The Line

By EDGAR E. GUEST

From office boy to president
Upon a common goal intent.

Each one in step to work they tread.
All eyes upon the job ahead.

Who enters these with smiling face
Is certain of a better place.

When vacancies occur you'll find
They fill them with the men behind.

Death took the president one day
With tears they laid his form away.

The loss was great, the grief was real,
The firm kept on an even keel.

The line moved up and went to work
The office boy became a clerk.

"And now," said they, "we must employ
Another bright-eyed office boy."

The Seed Catalogue

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A seed catalogue is a snare and a delusion.

In the Spring it keeps wives from their household duties and men from their honest labors.

This very evening a thousand seed catalogue addicts will look up from their armchairs under the reading lamps and never see the room at all.

Under the subtle hashish of alluring words and oh-so-colored engravings they see imaginary gardens stretch away filled with seed catalogue products.

Long rows of Whopper's World Beater tomatoes. Each round and large, like red harvest moons and as thick as warts on a pickle.

Dwarf peach trees burdened with peaches like clusters of rising suns. Gooseberries as big as plums. Watermelons so big they are mistaken for the backs of 200-pound hogs sleeping among the vines.

And last but not least envious neighbors draping the fence and looking in.

Those guileless, Arcadian photographs of a seed catalogue!

Never a neighbor's chicken cocks a weather eye through the inevitable hole in the fence and waits for the dinner hour. Never a depraved grasshopper sitting on a fence-post whetting a wicked mandible. Never a hungry aphid smiling upon a succulent rose-leaf. Never a sneering drouth marking a Whopper's World Beater for its own.

Not in the seed catalogue.

There things grow unhindered in a world of perfect neighbors, friendly insects and storms that drop rain as gently as spray from a sprinkling can.

And the flowers that bloom on the page, tra la!

Roses like cabbages! Peonies like white hay-cocks! Poppies like red merry widow hats!

In the home of the addicts, Spring is a time when Dorothy Perkins is spoken of oftener than Lydia Pinkham and the Duchess D'Angoulene more frequently than the Smith Brothers. It is a time when flowered pages become thumbed, when hopes rise, and imagination is king.

I am behind in my work because I had the time of my life looking over seed catalogues!

I once asked a preacher who had gone to farming why men in their old age seemed to gravitate towards the soil, they all go in for agriculture. His reply was, "I suppose it is because they have more sense." What is this lure anyhow what draws people to the soil? This desire to see things grow? It is in all of us, that is, most of us.

Some of us get so tired of trying to improve men that we enjoy improving vegetables.

Luther Burbank's career as a plant improver was peaceful enough, but when he tried his hand on improving the human race he encountered storms. John Fiske said that man was peculiar because he was improvable. It sometimes looks as though he was the only thing that wasn't improvable, at least that doesn't want to improve.

Do You Remember?

FORTY YEARS AGO

From the Edmonton Bulletin, Saturday, March 24th, 1888.

Those who can find so many specious reasons for doing away with the pre-emption right—who seem to be galled to the heart if the farmer makes money by any means outside of hard work—should note that the choice is not at present between having two or four settlers on each or each alternate sections, but is between placing all the land so that it may be acquired by actual settlers and doing without settlers altogether in far the greater part of the country for an indefinite number of years. After eighteen years of Canadian rule; after the vast expenditures that have been incurred in purchasing from the Indians, surveying, railway building, preserving order, administering justice, etc., etc., with seven-eights of the country still lying vacant—and still worse unwanted—the proposition to reduce the attractions to settlers by withdrawing the pre-emption privilege, while retaining half the whole area for purely speculative purposes by either the government or its pets, is so outrageous as not to be matter for argument.

An Ottawa despatch has the following: "Harry Costigan, collector of inland revenue, is here in connection with the distilleries in the territories. The government contemplated suppressing them but the North West members are making a vigorous effort to maintain them on the ground that they constitute the main stay of many people. Costigan says the government will either suppress them or impose a license. It is anticipated the latter will be the alternative.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Diet Specialist and Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions on Health and Diet Answered by Dr. McCoy, when addressed in care of The Edmonton Bulletin

INEXPENSIVE BEEF

Many housewives who are forced to prepare food for large families, but whose incomes are limited, often leave meat out of the diet two or three days in the week and substitute some starchy food in its place. Potatoes, beans, or macaroni and cheese should not be considered meat substitutes, and should be taken at some meal in the day which will not interfere with the meat or protein meal. Here are some suggestions for those who wish to use meat once a day and still keep the cost to the minimum.

Dr. Frank McCoy

Brisket and rump are the cheapest cuts of beef meat, and may be prepared in a wholesome manner by boiling. The meat should be tied up to preserve its shape, put into boiling water, plenty of vegetables added, and allowed to simmer gently until done. The present price of brisket or rump is twenty to twenty-five cents a pound.

Round steak may be prepared in the same manner by boiling, or may be broiled or pan-broiled if properly hammered to break up the connective tissue. For pan-broiling the fat should be removed and the steak cooked in a dry pan, the meat being turned every second or two so that it is singed each time but not overly burned. Round steak may also be prepared into what is called a Salisbury steak. All fat and gristle are removed from the meat and it is run through the meat grinder. This ground beef is then formed into patties one-half to an inch in thickness, placed in a dry pan, and baked in a hot oven for about five minutes. I believe this is the most nutritious and healthful way to prepare any kind of beef meat, no matter what price you pay for it.

Please observe that round steak, next to rump and brisket, is the cheapest beef meat in the market, most of the time selling around thirty cents a pound. When round steak sells at this price, sirloin steak is about fifteen cents more per pound, and with more waste, both in bone and fat.

Sirloin steak should be cooked by either broiling under the fire, or by pan-broiling. A porterhouse steak is something like the sirloin, but costs ten cents more per pound. This is just a "choice" cut because there are less of them to the carcass. When the porterhouse or sirloin steak has had the bone removed it sells for eighty cents a pound, while the filet part is still more expensive, bringing ninety cents a pound. These expensive steaks are all right for those who can afford to pay the price, or for those who wish to entertain and make an impression, but the ninety cent filet is in no way superior in food value to the thirty cent round steak.

Many of my patients who can well afford to pay for the more expensive cuts of beef have now learned to use round steak purely because they enjoy its flavor.

One must not confuse the ground round steak with the ordinary hamburger sold in the shops. Although hamburger meat may be perfectly wholesome when made entirely from good pieces of meat, it nevertheless usually contains a large amount of fat and is not as easily digested as the ground round steak from which all fat and gristle have been removed. One pound of round steak usually makes enough Salisbury steak for three people, as there is about a quarter of a pound of fat, gristle and bone to be removed. This leaves a quarter of a pound apiece for each, which is usually enough meat for the day. The cost, therefore, is about ten cents a person, and a few cents more apiece will supply all the salad and cooked non-starchy vegetables needed to make a well combined and nutritious meal.

Question: Stan writes: "I have heard of your wonderful cures and I would like you to tell me a remedy for pimples. Also, why do they come on my face?"

Answer: Pimples usually come from constipation and the use of too many carbohydrates and hydro-carbons, which mean starch, sugar and fats or oils. Take a course of enema treatments for several weeks and cut down on all of your heavy foods, using more salads and greens.

Question: M. L. L. asks: "Is peanut butter with green apples a good combination? I thought any nut butter had too much starch."

Answer: Peanut butter made from roasted peanuts has completely lost all of its starch, so it can be combined with any other kind of food. The nut butters made of nuts that have not been dextrinized have a very high percentage of starch.

Question: A. L. writes: "Please advise me in a case of paralysis, whole left side. Hemorrhage of the brain caused a clot to form which hasn't dissolved so far after ten weeks. Patient is 73 years of age. What causes pyorrhea?"

Answer: The best way to dissolve a blood clot on the brain is to take a fruit fast for several days or several weeks if necessary. The sooner this is done after an attack of paralysis the more hope you can have for a quick recovery. It is true that one of the causes of pyorrhea is a form of acidosis which comes from a lowered alkalinity of the blood. This can be corrected through eliminating the acid-forming foods and using more of the green vegetables and fruits. A pyorrhea specialist should also be consulted and treatments taken to remove any tartar on the teeth and infection around the gums. The teeth should be brushed two or three times daily, using some alkaline dentifrice, each brushing to extend over a period of at least five minutes.

Astrology

Planetary Influences on This Day for ALL.

Today is favorable for commercial interests and for creative matters.

For Those Whose Birthday Is Today

If you were born on March 30, you have a penetrating intellect and may be forced to exert your abilities in order to overcome many obstacles. You are possessed of a very high sense of duty. It is through the mental faculties that you will gain your greatest victories. Your best efforts would be expended in any work dealing with poetry, philosophy, history, the military, the stage, reform movements, law or materia medica. The most favorable periods for attempting anything reasonable in nature where beneficial results are required are the spring of 1928, the winter of 1929 and the winter of 1931.

Paul Verlaine, Born March 30, 1844

An example of a person born March 30 is Paul Verlaine, celebrated French poet and vagabond, whose horoscope reveals conflicts and malefic influences too great to be overcome by any but the strongest characters. A quality of nature is shown and an inability to lead a conventional existence. There is, however, a strong beneficent aspect in the direction of literary accomplishment, and the conflicting indications in the nature seem to have a direct bearing on this. A marked indifference to wordly renown and wordly goods is shown, and a distinct inability to adhere to the laws of nature or the laws of man. Many of his poems are of a high order and he is considered to be the real founder of the Symbolic school. Other persons born on this day are William DeWolf Hopper, American actor, and Joseph Caillaux, French statesman.

Planetary Conditions for Tomorrow, March 31

Tomorrow will be favorable for taking journeys and for any work requiring initiative.

Sunshine Shafts

Boy (to chemist): Have you got a good pick-me-up for after rather a hard night with ginger wine?

"When you are young you long for things to happen; when you are old you hope they won't."

Father: "I never told any lies when I was your age."

Son: "How old were you when you started?"

London Magistrate (in an assault case): Did you see him strike this man?

Girl Witness: No, but he gave him a most horrid look.

Peggy has been to the circus, and, being somewhat naughty on her return was asked by her mother, "Don't you think that if dogs and ponies and monkeys can obey so well, a little girl, who knows so much more than animals, should obey even more readily."

Peggy thought a moment, then said: "Yes, of course, if she had been as well trained."

How Much Do You Know?

How is your general knowledge? The Bulletin is running ten questions a day. How many can you answer? Test yourself and your friends on the basis:—Each question is worth ten marks. If you can answer all the ten questions, you rate 100 per cent in the quiz. If you can answer eight you rate 80 per cent. If you can answer four, you rate 40 per cent. How much do you know?

1. What city do the Falcons represent in the "Canpro." Hockey League?
2. What bird is declared by naturalists to have a vocabulary of 300 words?
3. What is the left side of a vessel, facing forward, called?
4. What wealthy Canadian made a will leaving the bulk of his estate to the mother who ten years hence has the largest family?
5. What member of the cat family is used in India for hunting?
6. How many strings has a Chinese fiddle?
7. Who were the Cyclopes?
8. Give the next line after: "I could not love thee, dear, so much."
9. In what two arts is Albrecht Durer most famous?
10. In what sex does color-blindness most frequently occur?

Keeping Mentally Fit

By Joseph Jastrow, A.B., A.M., Ph.D., LL.D.

Professor of Psychology, University of Wisconsin, 1888 to 1927; now professor emeritus; lecturer in the New School for Social Research, New York City; past president of the American Psychological Association.

THE TWO IMAGINATIONS

There are scores of ways of using the imagination, which to begin with, is just the power of making images.

But in a practical way there is the power to call up in your mind's eye what isn't yet there; and the power to imagine away what is before you in reality. Both are most important in many kinds of work, it is the working side of the imagination that is worth cultivating.

One of the best examples is designing. It doesn't make much difference whether you are designing a dress or a house, planning a flower garden, or furnishing a dining room. In all cases you try to get a picture of how the whole thing will look when finished. There is nothing there yet; it is still all in your imagination. You plan the scheme, choose the material, consider shapes and sizes and patterns and coloring. Gradually it takes shape in your imagination; not all of it, just the main points, with the details lacking. Then you begin to realize your images, which means working with things and making the mind's picture a real one.

Often you have to make changes. Your imagination stops and you have to try it out. You can't tell in advance how it will look. So you alter and change the proportions and look at it and change again—all because you can't tell in advance how it will look. If you had a perfect imagination you could do so. Yet everything that is built was once just an image, a dream in somebody's mind.

Now if you are making a dress or building a house, you can't afford to go ahead and do it and see whether you like it, and then pull it apart, and try another. So designers, and the rest of us who haven't imagination enough to be designers, help out with all sorts of aids. They make a sketch, and that's something to look at, though it's only a suggestion of how the whole will look when it's finished. But a drawing is flat; the things we make are solid. For an important building the architect prepares a model. The sculptor models the statue in small size with clay, which is cheap and can be worked and altered quickly. He changes and perfects it, and then is ready for the full-sized work in marble or bronze.

But again sculptors and artists need living models, even though the painting or statue is not to be a portrait, but something ideal like the Statue of Liberty or a painting of the Spirit of the West. Sculptors know how the body looks and have studied anatomy; but they can't imagine every detail of the curves and muscles and flesh. They have to help out their imagination by the reality. Now and then a rare artist can do without models. But imagination must always help out reality; otherwise you merely copy. The designer composes.

Now the other kind of imagination is just as important. It is to imagine away what is there. If the dressmaker's job is to make over and use old material, or if the architect's job is not to design a new house from the bottom up, but to make over an old one, then he must have the power to imagine away what is there. And that's harder because the thing is there; and yet you mustn't pay any attention to it. You must imagine that the hall where the stairway now is will become a room, and the new stairway go off from the other end of it. Imagine the stairway away! Well, most people can't do it. They can't see in their mind's eye the hall without the stairway until the carpenters come and rip out the old work.

A good imagination is a great money-saver if you are engaged in that sort of work. You don't have to try out and change so much, and you can see ways of using old material and making a new and beautiful thing of it. Many women hesitated about bobbing their hair because they couldn't picture just how they would look with the change; and sometimes their friends were as agreeably (or disagreeably!) surprised as they were. Many wives can't imagine how their husbands would look without a moustache if they have one, or with it if they haven't. On the other hand, you have seen so many pictures of Lincoln with and without a beard that you recognize either equally well.

Imagination isn't a luxury for poets, painters, designers and all those who can afford to deal with the extravagances of life. It's a practical gift to be used hundreds of times every day.

"GET IT AT WOODWARD'S"

Great Gale at Sea Again Delays Ocean Journey of German Fliers

JUNKER PLANE STILL AWAITS GOOD WEATHER

Delay of Several Days Is Now Believed Probable

DUBLIN, March 30—A gale sweeping western Ireland and the Atlantic today caused Baron Ehrenfried Gunther Von Huenefeld, flight sponsor, again to postpone the start of the plane Bremen for New York.

Sodden ground at Baldonnel aerodrome after the rain of yesterday was regarded as making it impossible for the five ton machine to rise from its lengthy runway.

With no hope of immediate improvement in weather conditions foreseen it was probable that the Bremen would be isolated here several days longer.

While Baron Von Huenefeld and his pilots, Captain Herman Koehl and Arthur Spindler, waited for a change of weather, mechanics used every minute of spare time to groom the plane. Its silvered duraluminum all-metal body was coated with a secret anti-freeze preparation which it was hoped would prevent sleet from forming and weighting the machine down.

While members of the Irish Free State air force regard Captain Koehl as a pilot who will succeed, this view is not shared by all. A member of the Free State cabinet said he felt the men were doomed and took his small son to see them so that he could offer prayers in their behalf.

HEALTH CITY BEING BUILT IN NEW YORK

Exclusive to Bulletin

NEW YORK, March 31—Within the city of New York is rising another city—a city of health—a centre of hospitals and clinics which represents the most complete and ambitious scheme ever devised to alleviate human suffering, study disease, and teach the science of medicine.

It is called the New York Medical Centre. It overlooks the Hudson river at 168th street, dominating the immediate vicinity like a huge cathedral. It is visible for miles along the New York and New Jersey shores.

Twenty Million Dollars

Six units of the centre are ready for use. Others are being completed as fast as modern mechanism can construct them. In no other city of the world is there a health project comparing with this in physical magnitude. Some of the units and their cost are:

College of Physicians and Surgeons, $3,268,000.
Vanderbilt Clinic, $1,461,000.
Neurological Institute, $1,600,000.
Babies' Hospital, $1,500,000.
Psychiatric Institute, $1,900,000.
Presbyterian Hospital, Sloane Maternity Hospital and Squier Clinic, $6,000,000.

The total investment in the Medical Centre will be in excess of $20,000,000. This includes nothing for land, as the site was donated by Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness and her son, Edward S. Harkness.

Architecturally the buildings are a triumph in modernism, but the first thought of the architects was with reference to sunlight and air for the patients, and the space was distributed to secure these natural advantages.

Garden View

The northern portions of the buildings are given over mainly to administrative offices and staff quarters. All the hospital wards will have southern exposures. There is a window for every bed, and an outlook on a garden from each window. The garden space means not only a view, but a zone of silence to keep out the hum and clatter of traffic.

Besides the advantages of the finest equipment and specialists in attendance for every form of disease there are roof gardens, music rooms, gymnasiums, and recreational facilities for those who are convalescent.

The interior walls are finished in colors—cheerful ones—rather than in white. Elevators whisk patients up and down, and in the gardens are ramps instead of steps joining various elevations, for the convenience of wheel chair patients.

Medical students will have an opportunity to study and observe all cases.

TRY SALTS IF KIDNEYS HURT

Drink Water Freely and Often to Keep Kidneys Flushed and Clean

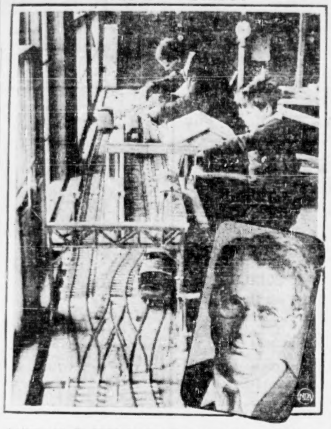
No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; make a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.

THE IDEAL SCHOOL



A glimpse into Dr. Coolidge's unique classroom, showing two of his students at work on their model railroad. Inset, the professor.

Glow-worms are more brilliant just before an approaching storm than at any other time.

The first American invention to become world famous was Franklin's lightning rod in 1752.

BOYS CLAIM THIS SCHOOL JUST IDEAL

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March —Found at last; a school where boyhood's fond dreams of building a railroad and running its trains actually are realized!

Such is the Shady Hill school of this city, many of whose pupils are children of professors and instructors of Harvard university. Once a week a class of earnest youngsters assembles in a building set apart from the others of the school group and study the problems of railroading under the guidance of Dr. Albert Sprague Coolidge, of Harvard.

For one glorious afternoon Dr. Coolidge and his young charges become railroad men in fact . . . great designers and constructors . . . . builders of bridges and signal towers . . . . controllers of speeding trains.

Long Trackage

Here, around the walls of the school carpenter shop, the lads, whose ages range from nine to thirteen, have built themselves some two hundred feet of miniature track. This they have electrified, and equipped with the latest and most perfected types of signals and safety devices. On it run engines and trains made by the boys under Dr. Coolidge's supervision.

"When the school began the class in railroading I was asked to take charge," said the Harvard professor. "I always have been interested in problems of railroads, although I never have had actual working experience. My practical knowledge has been gained in helping the boys model their equipment after the real thing. For example, we wanted to construct a three-way cross-over switch for the station yards. We studied the principle of it as successfully used by railroads, and then went ahead and built it in our shop. It's all good experience—and plenty of fun besides."

Dr. Coolidge, with the verve of a schoolboy, set about explaining the intricate workings of the little road's interlocking signal tower with its triple track switching, its semaphore bridge and lever control rooms. After that, he demonstrated the block signal system and its flashing red and green lights.

Many Wrecks

"Despite all our safety devices, we still have innumerable wrecks," he laughingly admitted. "You see, if we ever do get our road running on perfect schedule and without accidents, there no longer will be need of continuing our class."

The purpose of the class, Dr. Coolidge said, simply is to teach the boys to think constructively and handle tools skilfully.

But there is more than this in the project for the youthful students. For as they work, they are firemen, engineers, brakemen, conductors, charged with responsibility for trains that go roaring across long miles of plain and prairie. They are engineers solving baffling problems of construction. They are kings of American transportation.

There's romance for them in this school as well as learning.

"One thing we need is a drawbridge," said Dr. Coolidge. "We are going to build one right away."

Playful Nick Will Spend Term in Jail

Nick Nikiforuk, of Vegreville, is not a playful person when aroused, but his playmates for the next six months will be the inmates of Fort Saskatchewan jail. Nick started on his way jailward last Saturday when he returned home and had a row with his wife. Before Magistrate F. W. Russell he admitted that "he kicked her a little, but not much." Accused then attacked Town Constable William Rogers with an axe when the latter went to arrest him for assault.

On both charges the 13-year-old son of the accused testified against his father.

BRITISH FILM UNDER DEBATE GOES TO U. S.

NEW YORK, March 30—"Dawn," the British movie detailing the tragic career of Edith Cavell, is a "dignified, noble presentation of a story of martyrdom" that should allay rather than accentuate national prejudices, in the opinion of Arch Selwyn, theatrical magnate who has brought the film to America.

British officialdom ordered suppression of "Dawn".

"The film begins by showing Edith Cavell performing her regular duties as a nurse and helping wounded British, Belgian and American volunteer soldiers escape from Belgium," said Selwyn.

"There follows her arrest, imprisonment and trial. The German military court supplies a distinguished lawyer to defend the nurse, but Miss Cavell is shown saying 'I have no defense. All the charges are true.' The court then returns the only verdict possible under military regulations.

"Important scenes show Brand Whitlock of Toledo, America's wartime minister to Belgium, arising from a sick bed to go to the German military governor and intercede for the life of the condemned woman. The man playing the part of Whitlock is a splendid character.

"The final scene was unjustly criticised by Sir Austen Chamberlain. He spoke without having seen the picture. There is no actual shooting. The film shows Edith Cavell in the courtyard which was the scene of the execution. She is not blindfolded. A member of the firing squad refuses to shoot. You surmise he has been shot for insubordination, but you see no firing.

"The film is the work of Herbert Wilcox, young British director who starred Dorothy Gish in "Nell Gwyn". George Bernard Shaw saw "Dawn," and was quoted as saying: "It rebukes us all impartially, and will edify us impartially. I hope it will take its lessons to the end of the earth. The film can go to Germany as an English film without provoking any German."

Mother of First Lady in U.S. Reported Ill

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., March 30—Unfavorable reports on the condition of her aged mother, Mrs. L. Goodhue, were the cause of concern today to Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

Mrs. Goodhue experienced a setback yesterday. She has been ill since last December, when she suffered an attack of influenza.

Mrs. E. Goodhue's physician announced his patient had passed an uncomfortable night and was greatly fatigued.

TORY CHIEF SICK

OTTAWA, March 30—Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, is confined to his rooms with a slight cold.

SOUTH AFRICA FIGHTS FLOOD

CAPETOWN, South Africa, March 30—Alarm was felt in Cape province today as steady rainfall assumed torrential proportions and floods developed, dams burst, railroad lines washed out and towns isolated. Many of the afflicted areas had been stricken by drought for as long a period as five years.

The irrigation dam near Prince Albert, which was built at a cost of $250,000, and was dry for five years, was reported to have been destroyed. The bursting of a dam washed away the railroad over which the Earl of Athlone, the governor general, was travelling in a special train to the native territories, holding it up near King Williamstown.

Railway embankments were washed away in other places and towns cut off.

LAW AND ORDER

J. M'DOUGALL ROTARY CHIEF

After a spirited contest in a four-cornered fight, Jack McDougall was chosen as president of the Edmonton Rotary club at their annual meeting held in conjunction with their weekly luncheon in the Macdonald hotel on Thursday. George Fox, Jack Juhlin and George Campbell were the unsuccessful candidates.

One of the pleasing features of the luncheon was the presentation to John A. McDougall of a souvenir by Dr. J. D. Harrison on behalf of the club on the occasion of Mr. McDougall's fiftieth anniversary of his residence in this city.

Solos were rendered during the luncheon by Miss Bessie Wood and Mrs. Frank Clarke, both of which were much appreciated.

Saskatoon Runner is Holding His Position

MORIARITY, N. Y., March 30—John Cronick, Saskatoon runner, competing in the coast-to-coast marathon, continues to hold fourth position in total elapsed time and Phil Granville, Hamilton, Ont., is in sixth place. Cronick's elapsed time with the completion Thursday of 921.5 miles is 162, 29, 40. Granville's time is 174, 57, 36.

Henry Swabey, York County, Ontario, with an elapsed time of 190, 12, 33, holds twelfth place.

Cronick finished Thursday's lap of 29.5 miles in 5, 02, 10. George Liebergaull, Bellevue, Alta., had a time Thursday of 5, 08, 00. His elapsed time is 201, 05, 23.

Seeding May Commence Soon, Officials State

WINNIPEG, March 30—Despite the heavy movement of immigrants to the west during the past two weeks, more positions are open on western farms than the railways and employment agencies can fill, immigration and employment officers stated Thursday. Thousands of vacancies, the officers said, had been reported. Likelihood of an earlier commencement of seeding operations is generally conceded in the west, they added, and unless immigration continues at its present high peak the opening of operations on the land may find western farmers short-handed.

Discarded theories far surpass in number the proved facts.

VIRTUTE ET INDUSTRIA

It is with a certain amount of pride that the House of Fry celebrates its 200th anniversary this year. There are not many firms in business today whose history antedates the year 1728. Still fewer perhaps, whose affairs are in the hands of able descendants of a Founder who lived 200 years and more ago. Not many of any age whose Products are sold so widely over the earth and held in such high esteem.

It is said that every Institution is but the lengthened shadow of one man—but he must have been a great man. Young Doctor Fry was such, earnest, sincere, upright and a clever scientist. In founding the House of Fry he became, in reality, the founder of the vast cocoa and chocolate industry as we have it today. . . . . His passion for uprightness in business laid the foundation for those ideals of purity and quality which are still, after 200 years, the leading characteristics of FRY'S Cocoa and Chocolate.

Women's Press Club Hears Interesting Talk on Folk-Songs

The mythology of the North American Indian is founded on old Norman legends brought to Canada by the early French settlers, Mr. Edward Corbett, University of Alberta staff, stated in an address on French folk-songs and legends, given before members of the Edmonton branch, Canadian Women's Press club, at their dinner-meeting in the Macdonald hotel Thursday evening.

The swinging tunes of the habitant voyageur heard on the Saskatchewan river more than two hundred years ago were echoes of the melodies sung on the waters of Quebec and in the eastern logging camps in the days of the earliest French settlers, Mr. Corbett said.

These melodies were not outbursts of minstrelsy, the speaker observed, but, like the Indian myths, were oral traditions brought over from Normandy, and while lost for many years, have been recently collected by the Canadian government for the benefit of future generations.

Mrs. Perren Baker, president of the club, presided at the dinner, which was served in the writing room.

Luncheon—Noodle soup, celery and apple salad, graham bread, chocolate cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Stuffed pork tenderloin, sweet potato apples, creamed onions, grape fruit salad, apple tapioca pudding, milk, coffee.

Chocolate Cookies

One cup sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup melted butter, 2 squares bitter chocolate, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 tablespoon warm water, 2 cups flour, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Cream sugar and butter and add chocolate melted over hot water. Save the white of one egg for frosting and beat one whole egg and remaining yolk until light. Add to first mixture and beat hard. Add soda dissolved in warm water. Mix and sift in flour. Add vanilla and mix thoroughly. Roll on a slightly floured molding board to one-fourth inch thickness. Cut with cookie cutter and bake twelve minutes in a hot oven. When cool, frost with a boiling frosting made with the white of egg.

These cookies keep extremely well and are better after the first day. The white frosting on the dark cooky makes a very attractive confection. Those who like a peppermint and chocolate combination might flavor the frosting with a drop or two of oil of peppermint.

Social Hygiene Is Subject of Lecture in South Side Hall

Sterilization of mental defectives as a precautionary method for safeguarding the future generations of the nation constituted the main theme of an address by Dr. Murray G. Thomson, social hygiene executive, in the South Side library hall Thursday evening. Mr. Croft, president of the Ritchie Community League, was in the chair.

Dr. Thomson spoke concerning the advisability of sterilizing the feebleminded, and explained that the effect for good would be more evident in the future than in the present generations, but would be an unbelievable influence for improved health in whole communities.

Dr. Dunn, medical health inspector for the schools, spoke on the work done for the sub-normal child in special classes in the schools and of the added responsibility their presence entailed.

Mr. John Galloway spoke in opposition to sterilization of mental defectives.

Mrs. Mannie sang "Mother Machree" very pleasingly, and Mrs. J. W. Adair, convener of the educational committee of the Federated Community Leagues, and president of the Garneau Community League, moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Thomson, on behalf of the federation.

New York Shop Girls Losing Weight Too Fast, Doctor Declares

TORONTO, March 30.—Following the present feminine craze to become thin, many New York shop girls have been losing too much weight, which has decreased their efficiency and made them liabilities to their departments. The situation has become so serious that one large department store had undertaken a course of education in health for its employes, Dr. V. V. Anderson said in the course of a lecture on "Vocational Guidance and Mental Hygiene of Industry."

Lack Ability

"There are not enough good workers to go round," he pointed out, "and there will not be until the homes and schools realize that people need more than intelligence to get on at a job." Failures in business and commercial life, he believes, are not due to lack of ability, but to faulty attitudes which point back to early character development. Schools prepare people in intelligence but not in most necessary habits of application.

Liabilities

At present 20 per cent of all employes are potential liabilities to their employers, and eventual drifters and unemployed. Yet half of these can be made assets to themselves and their neighbors by psychiatrists, as is being done by the store in New York.

Weddings

Garneau United church Sunday school auxiliary will meet at the residence of Mrs. K. Robertson, 11045 87 avenue, on Monday, April 2.

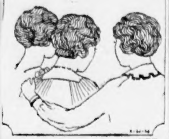
Milady Beautiful

By LOIS LEEDS



THE BACK OF THE COIFFURE

In the days when coiffures were elaborate structures of puffs, curls and lofty pompadours there was wider scope for the hairdresser's ingenuity than there is today, but milady still continues to demand a variety in the arrangement of her abbreviated tresses.

The much-heralded return of long hair has brought new opportunities for giving individuality to coiffures, especially in the treatment of the back hair. The front of the season's coiffures is not different from last year's or that of the year before, but the back instead of being shingled is given a distinctively feminine touch by the use of puffs or small coils of milady's own hair.

The back of the coiffure was always a more difficult problem than the front on account of the short hairs that grow at the nape of the neck. When these hairs curl naturally in soft ringlets there is nothing more charming, but when they are straight and stiff through much pruning with the clippers they should be concealed as deftly as possible.

Three ways of arranging milady's coiffure in the back are illustrated above. The girl with small, regular features and a skull that is well rounded behind may choose the style on the left. A very short part is made in the centre front and the hair drawn back away from the brow and waved in a horseshoe effect. The hair on the right side is pinned in a small knot behind and the left-hand section is brushed back and over the foundation knot. Be sure to tuck all the ends of hair under.

The centre coiffure is suitable for hair that is being allowed to grow long and has scarcely reached shoulder length. A centre part is made and the hair slightly waved around brow and ears. The ends are gathered together behind and turned up in a small roll across the nape of the neck. The roll may be held in place by a wide, short-toothed comb or with small wire hairpins.

The third coiffure illustrated is for hair fairly long, though it need not be thick. Abundant hair is not now so much prized as it was ten to twenty years ago. The modern woman has her hair thinned out by the hairdresser if it is too heavy for the present styles. In the coiffure illustrated the hair is parted on one side. The back hair is divided into two equal sections which are crossed over at the centre and pinned under.

Are You One of Those Women?

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Certain women are sufficiently interesting in appearance to cause people to look twice. The secret is an outstanding smartness.

Always such a person appears perfectly groomed but the methods of acquiring this stamp are quiet and unobstrusive.

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

Here is one of the important ways: Use a powder that blends with you skin so smoothly that it looks a part of you. I have found this powder in France. Formerly it was made for my personal use only. Now you can buy it at your own toilet counter. It comes in a square box. Ask for Edna Wallace Hopper's Heavy Face Powder.

For certain skins which do not require as clinging a type I have what I call my Light Face Powder, which comes in a round box at a lower price. Both types in Flesh, Brunette, White.

DOROTHY DIX

"Every Wife Can Make Her Marriage a Tragedy Or a Lively Comedy, and It Is Only When She Sees Her Husband as a Great Human Joke That She Can Get Any Pleasure Out Of Being Married to Him," Says Dorothy Dix

If God had created Eve out of Adam's funny-bone instead of out of his rib it would never have been necessary for their descendants to establish the divorce court. For the chief reason why so many marriages go on the rocks is because the average woman has no sense of humor. About nine-tenths of the things that happen in matrimony are things over which you must either laugh or cry, and she can't raise the ghost of a smile to cheer her on her way amid the gobs of matrimonial gloom. She can't laugh it off when things go wrong. All that she can do is to sit down and strew ashes on her head and sob out that her heart is broken and marriage is a failure.

If it is, it is largely because she has made marriage a tragedy instead of turning it into a lively comedy, and as a proof of the truth of this assertion you have only to observe that in those couples who are still happy though married the wife is invariably a lady with a highly developed sense of humor. You never hear of a husband growing tired of a jolly wife whose laugh is hung on a hair-trigger or forsaking her for a flapper, no matter how old and fat she grows.

One of the main differences between the masculine and feminine temperament is that women are always out on a still hunt for trouble, while men are trying to dodge it. Women like to weep, while men like to laugh. A woman's idea of an enjoyable play or book is one that she can cry comfortably through, while a man's taste in drama and literature runs to something bright and breezy that he can chuckle over. And women carry this same ideal into matrimony.

A woman's conception of a good wife who does her duty by her husband and family is a serious-minded woman who is burdened down with responsibilities, who takes a dark blue, pessimistic view of everything and who is always trying to lead her husband and children up into the higher life instead of playing around with them and turning a blind eye on their faults and weaknesses

When you hear women speak of a woman as "noble" you may be sure that she is one who seldom smiles and has a bad case of the reformation complex, whereas, on the other hand, they always brand a woman as "light" and suspect her of being no better than she should be if she is given to laughing and telling funny stories.

This temperamental peculiarity of women as the inevitable result of enabling them to make the worst out of matrimony and to turn even farcical situations into heart-rending tragedies. Take, for instance, the disappointment and disillusion that both a man and a woman meet when they discover that the romantic hero and heroine of their respective love dreams is only a mere mortal man and woman after all.

Doubtless to a man it is a shock to find out that his Maria's beauty is mostly synthetic and that she removes her complexion at night with cold cream and puts up her hair on crimpers and that she has nerves and temper and a gift for nagging that he never suspected that she had concealed about her person. But his sense of humor comes to his rescue and he grins at the ease with which he was taken in and finds unending amusement in watching the queer way her mind works its wonders to perform.

But the woman's disappointments in the man she has married often leave her disgruntled for life, for no sense of humor comes to her rescue. It never strikes her as funny that she could ever have thought that a fussy little fat man who talks too much about himself and who thinks more about food than he does about his immortal soul, was a godling before whom she expected to burn incense the balance of her days.

As a matter of fact, it is only when a wife can see her husband as a great human joke that she can get any real pleasure out of being married to him. So long as she takes him seriously he wounds her in a hundred little ways, and she sheds tears of blood over his sidestepping.

It is only when she beholds him as a dear, funny, blundering male creature at whose faults and foibles she can laugh that she becomes not only a happy wife but one who has the magic that will enable her to ward off misfortune from her home and to make her husband eat out of her hand.

For in a sense of humor is to be found the only solution of most of the problems that confront wives. Half of the dangers they most fear flee before a good healthy laugh and they can save many a situation from being a catastrophe by turning it into a joke.

Take the case of a husband who is more or less of a philanderer. He is of a gay and pleasure-loving nature and likes pretty girls and flatters himself that he is a devil of a fellow with women. His wife can precipitate a tragedy by taking all of this seriously. She can break up her home and orphan her children and impoverish herself by getting green-eyed with jealousy and raising ructions every time he speaks to a woman, and end up by getting divorced.

If she has a sense of humor she can literally laugh it off. She can kid her husband about being a sheik and having a way with women and keep the whole affair so much a joke that it all fizzles out in harmless laughter and nobody can take it seriously.

Then there are millions of women who shed barrels of tears because their husbands go off into silent sulks and won't speak to them for days and weeks after there has been any little family disagreement. What a pity these women haven't a sense of humor and can appreciate how screamingly funny it is to see a big grown-up man pouting around like a spoiled small boy. If they could only give him the laugh he would join in and the entente cordiale would be restored once more.

If women had a sense of humor they would know that ridicule is the most effective weapon in the world and that it will accomplish what nagging and tears and prayers will not do. It will open the purse of the tightwad, polish the manners of the boor and stop the mouth of the abusive. For, while we may endure to be thought of as sinners, none of us can stand being seen as a figure of fun.

So I would say that a sense of humor, which is a sense of proportion, is the greatest virtue that wives can cultivate.

Menus

By SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Halves of grape fruit, cereal, cream, eggs poached in milk on graham toast, fried hominy, syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cream of celery soup, croutons, spinach salad, brown bread, baked Indian pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—New England boiled dinner, tomato jelly salad, crisp cookies, canned peaches, milk, coffee.

Corned beef or fat salt pork can be used in a "boiled dinner" as the cook prefers. If pork is used, the vegetables and meat can be cooked together to advantage since the vegetables flavor the meat quite delicately and deliciously. If corned beef is used, the vegetables should be cooked in the meat broth after the meat is done.

Baked Indian Pudding.

Two tablespoons corn meal, 3 cups milk, 1 tablespoon butter, 4 tablespoons molasses, 1-2 cup seeded raisins, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon ginger, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 egg.

Mix cornmeal with one-fourth cup cold water. Heat 2 1-2 cups milk to the scalding point and stir into cornmeal. Cook over boiling water for fifteen minutes. Stir in butter, molasses, raisins, salt, ginger, and cinnamon. Remove from heat and add egg well-beaten. Turn into a well-buttered pudding dish and pour over remaining half cup of milk. Bake in a moderate over for forty-five minutes. Serve with or without hard sauce.

What's What

By HELEN DECIE

When two boys are introduced to two girls may the introducer say "Anna Smith—John Jones," "Sally Carr—Harvey Moore," or should the titles Miss and Mr. be used? The boys and girls are from 16 to 18 years old.

It is the custom now to use the adult form of introduction among boys and girls of 14 or over. At that age they are very sensitive- extremely proud of their new titles and apt to feel hurt if they are introduced in the Sally-and-Jack fashion of little children.

The proper form—always naming the girl first—is, "Miss Smith—Mr. Jones," "Miss Carr—Mr. Moore," which may be varied this way, observing both adult and juvenile forms, "Sally, this is Harvey Moore; Miss Carr—Mr. Moore."

At children's parties, little boys and girls are not missed and mastered. Instead introductions are childlike, thus "Ruth' this is Billy; Ruth Lee—Billy Stevens."

WHAT HAPPENED AT FARMER BROWN'S

By THORNTON W. BURGESS
(Copyright)

You sometimes cannot always tell,
No matter how you scheme and plan
If things will turn out ill or well—
You just must do the best you can.

People who live that way, just doing the best they can every day and not worrying for fear that things will not come out just as they have planned, are called by a long name. They are called philosophers. Jimmy Skunk was a kind of philosopher. You see he planned everything as carefully as he could, and then just made up his mind that he wouldn't worry. If he had really done all that he could do, why that was all he could do. The only thing was to make sure that he had done everything.

So Jimmy Skunk sat beside Prickly Porky the Porcupine in the Green Forest waiting for the black night shadows to grow blacker. When the darkness was at its very darkest they would steal up to Farmer Brown's dooryard and try their plan for setting Unc' Billy Possum free from the wire covered box in which Farmer Brown's Boy was holding him a prisoner.

Not very far away some one else was watching and waiting. It was Reddy Fox. He had a plan, too. It wasn't to help Unc' Billy Possum. Oh, my, not! It was to upset Jimmy Skunk's plan, to keep Unc' Billy Possum a prisoner and to try to get Jimmy Skunk and Prickly Porky in trouble that Reddy Fox was watching and waiting. He was very impatient, was Reddy Fox. He couldn't sit still. You know that is quite likely to be the way with people who are planning mischief. He kept going to the edge of the Green Forest to peep out, and he moved about so much that Jimmy Skunk's sharp eyes say him.

My, how Prickly Porky can gnaw.

"Ho!" said Jimmy Skunk. "Reddy Fox isn't hanging around here for any good purpose. I'll just keep my eyes on him."

When the night was at its very darkest and all the lights in Farmer Brown's house had winked out, Jimmy Skunk led the way up to Farmer Brown's dooryard straight to the box where Unc' Billy Possum was a prisoner. Unc' Billy was wide awake and waiting. Prickly Porky didn't waste any time. He just grunted a short "good evening" in reply to Unc' Billy's greeting and then got right down to work. Jimmy Skung went off a little way where he could watch.

My, how Prickly Porky can gnaw when once he sets out to! Those big front teeth of his certainly can cut into wood! It made Jimmy Skunk tickle all over to see the splinters fly from that box.

"We'll soon have Unc' Billy out of there," chuckled Jimmy as he kept watch.

Now, Jimmy Skunk is not so easy to fool, for all he seems so easy-going and even careless. He had made up his mind that Reddy Fox was hanging around for no good purpose, and so, while he kept one eye on Farmer Brown's house he kept the other open for Reddy Fox. So while Reddy thought himself so smart as he sneaked out of the Green Forest and kept in the darkest shadows Jimmy Skunk saw him and knew that he was up to mischief.

Reddy Fox had a very simple plan. He would slip into the henhouse and frighten the hens so that they would make a great noise, and that would bring Farmer Brown's Boy out with his gun. Reddy chuckled wickedly as he slipped into the hen house and thought how he would be far away in the Green Forest by the time Farmer Brown's Boy could get out there, but that slow-moving Jimmy Skunk and Prickly Porky would be almost sure to be seen.

Just imagine how disappointed Reddy Fox was when he got inside the henhouse to find that all the hens were roosting so high that jump as he would he couldn't frighten them a bit. No, sir; he couldn't frighten them a bit. He tried his very best, but jump as he would he couldn't get near enough to really frighten them, and they didn't make noise enough to even waken Bowser the Hound.

"Ha, ha, ha, Mr. Smarty!" chuckled some one. It was Jimmy Skunk.

Reddy was too angry to say anything; he just snarled. Then he had a happy thought. He would waken Bowser the Hound.

Liberal Women Will Consider Many Topics At National Meeting

Old Age Pensions, Citizenship, Election Campaigns to Occupy Attention

Coming from all over Canada, Liberal Women at their great national gathering in Ottawa on April 17 and 18, will discuss mainly problems of interest to women in each of the provinces, and Liberal organization within the provinces. Prominent women speakers from each province will voice the needs and views of Liberal women from their localities.

Among the important subjects for addresses and discussion will be legislation for women and children, old age pensions, citizenship, organization, women's part in election campaigns, and the organization of Liberal women, the subjects being dealt with as they apply to each province.

The Franchise

Of nation-wide interest to both women and men will be the discussion of women's use of the franchise, a subject which has been attracting a certain amount of attention recently. Mrs. Annie C. Hall of Brampton, president of the Ontario Women's Liberal Association, will speak on organization in Ontario, and Miss A. M. Hatfield, president of the Nova Scotia Women's Liberal Association, will cover the subject for her province. Other provinces will have similar representation on the pragram.

Many Acceptances

The Provisional Committee of the National Federation of Women's Liberal Clubs, with headquarters at Ottawa, reports a heavy list of acceptances in response to the Convention call. A particularly large number of Quebec women have signified their intention of attending. Fairly adequate representation is assured to women in Liberal ridings by the presence in Ottawa of the wives of Liberal members of Parliament.

The April meetings are unique in the political history of women in Canada. So far the national political organization of women has not progressed to any great extent, and this move on the part of Liberal women will undoubtedly give an impetus to the study of women's place in the country's political life.

Liberal Movement

This National Convention of Liberal women from all parts of Canada is purely a movement by and for Liberal women. The National Provisional committee at Ottawa, aided by the wives of the Cabinet Ministers and of Liberal Senators, as well as Liberal members of Parliament, has made all arrangements for the meetings. The National meeting will be financed entirely by women—a point stressed because of periodic suspicion that such political movements for women are financed by men of the party for purely party purposes.

While Liberal women are thus completely in charge of their own organization, however, they in no sense desire to form a women's party. Rather they want to assure the adequate organization of Liberal women, and to further the cause of Liberalism among women.

Committees at Work

Joint chairmen of the National meeting will be Mrs. P. F. Casgrain of Montreal, wife of the chief Liberal whip; Mrs. C. H. Thorburn, of Ottawa, and Mrs. W. R. Motherwell, wife of the Minister of Agriculture. Numerous committees are meeting daily at Ottawa to assure the entertainment and comfort of convention visitors, as well as to complete all the plans for the two days' meeting.

Household Suggestions

CLEAN UMBRELLAS

Umbrellas should be opened once in a while and scrubbed with warm suds to which some ammonia has been added. Rinse in clear water and let dry while open.

COCOANUT SAUCE

A thin custard to which shredded cocoanut has been added makes a good sauce for a pudding made from stale cake that has been steamed. Serve hot.

STUFFED PIMENTOES

Canned pimentoes are delicious stuffed with leftover meats and cracker crumbs. Cover with strips of bacon and bake until the bacon is crisp.

HORS D'OEUVRE

A new hors d'oeuvre consists of hot large potato chips dotted with caviar. Heat chips and put a portion of caviar sprinkled with lemon juice in the centre of each.

NEW DRESSING

Rub a bowl with garlic, put two pimentoes through a sieve, add some chopped parsley and mix all with French dressing, and you will have an unexpectedly piquant dressing.

NUTMEG FLAVOR

If the children are weary of their spinach, try seasoning it with nutmeg for a change. Cut up fine and sprinkle butter, a little cream and nutmeg over it.

Exhibition Directors Decline to Agree to Part Time Managership Proposal

DECISION OF EXECUTIVE IS NOT ACCEPTED

Committee Instructed to Re-Consider Applications After Warm Discussion

By a vote of 9 to 2, with six directors failing to vote, the recommendation of the executive committee of the Exhibition association to appoint Percy W. Abbott fair manager on a part-time basis on a salary of $300 a month with car allowance, was turned down by the board of directors Thursday evening.

The vote came after the question of appointing Mr. Abbott had been heatedly discussed. The directorate was divided on the question. As a result of the decision, Mr. Abbott, who also is president of the association, will carry on in his capacity as acting-manager until after the Spring Show and possibly until after the annual summer fair. In the meantime the executive are instructed to carefully consider again the 40 applications which had been received as a result of a wide advertising campaign, and to try and bring in a recommendation for a full-time manager.

Opposition Develops

After J. T. J. Collisson had read the executive's recommendation, Alderman Herb. Baker voiced his disapproval, declaring that in his opinion the asset which the city had in the Exhibition amounting to $600,000 was too valuable to be left in the hands of a part-time manager. "If a part-time manager can do the work now, then I feel we have been remiss in the past," he said.

Angus McDonnell, who acted as chairman, explained that the executive had carefully considered all the applications and had come to the conclusion that, while Mr. Abbott had not been an applicant, he was the most acceptable to the executive.

Alderman East thought it inadvisable to appoint a permanent manager at this time with the responsibility of the summer fair on his shoulders. He felt the Exhibition staff had the work well in hand and could carry on.

Tribute to Mr. Abbott

George Latham thought Mr. Abbott had the confidence of the public behind him and the board should consider itself fortunate in having a man of Mr. Abbott's calibre willing to assist them at this time.

"I think we are making a mistake to handle it this way," remarked W. W. Prevey, M.L.A. "If Mr. Abbott resigned as president and would take the position as fair manager, I would say give it to him now," he added. Mr. Prevey expressed the opinion that Mr. Abbott should carry on until after the spring show and then a permanent manager under his direction should be appointed. "He has to make certain connections and you will be no better off next year. I don't think we should trifle with this matter. If Mr. Abbott is the man we want, then let us settle it now," he declared.

Mr. Abbott at this juncture pointed out that should the resolution go through, he would resign as president of the association immediately.

George Latham thought the discussion was getting too far away from the committee's recommendation, and his remarks brought Mr. Prevey quickly to his feet.

Threatens Resignation

"I object to that kind of talk," he said. "If I am not free to discuss this question in an open manner, then I'll resign from the directorate right now," he said.

Mr. Abbott poured oil on the troubled waters at this stage, explaining that in his opinion the association would be able to carry on under such an arrangement as recommended, but that if the directorate wished him to carry on until after the summer fair, it would be quite acceptable to him.

Rice Shepherd was also against the part-time manager proposal, pointing out that there were many duties devolving upon the fair manager, such as assistance to wool-growers and the like.

Such an appointment as proposed lacked any outlook for the future, in the opinion of Alderman J. C. Bowen. He thought an assistant should be named before the summer fair, and then if he measured up, the board would have something to work upon.

Pleads for Harmony

A plea for harmony which had been the keynote of the directorate in the past, was urged by C. C. Batson. "Co-operation and harmony on the board means more than anything else," he said.

Dr. F. A. Keillor felt that Mr. Abbott's appointment would be better received by the general public were he to continue as president of the association, but a reverse view was taken by J. T. J. Collisson.

Alderman Baker moved an amendment that the question of appointing a full-time manager be referred back to the executive and this view was also supported by Alderman James East, who believed that in time a more harmonious feeling among the board members might be secured.

Mr. Abbott thought it was futile to send the resolution back if his name was to be considered as a permanent manager. "I couldn't accept the position on a full-time basis," he said, "owing to my legal business. I would be sacrificing too much," he said.

Other Business Discussed

Prior to the discussion, much business in connection with the association's activities with respect to the proposed two-day race meet on May 24 and 26, the fair prize list, dog show, cat show, quoting competition, and other matters of detail were taken up.

BOY "HEALER" IS DAY'S SENSATION IN MEXICO

A few months ago Espinazo, Mexico, was merely a railroad water tank near the United States border, with perhaps a hundred residents. Now Espinazo is a boom town of more than 15,000 people, and Fidencio Constantino, boy healer, is the reason. The boy, shown to the left, below, with the cap, lays hands on his "patients," and Mexicans tell of wonderful cures he has effected. A view of the crowded Espinazo camp is shown at the top. Throngs come daily for Constantino's free medicine, which is water containing herbs and fruit peelings. Those shown to the right, below, are getting the medicine. Many Americans from Texas and other border states have visited Espinazo.

SOCCER GAME AT ASHBOURNE WEIRD MELEE

LONDON, March 30.—The Prince of Wales was one of the delighted spectators of the ancient game of Shrovetide football at Ashbourne, Derbyshire. His Royal Highness "kicked off" and cheered the players on for some time.

This Shrovetide game is a hurly-burly affair between multitudes of young robust men who, in their old clothes and their strength, care nothing for hard knocks and mud and injuries. There is no referee, no rules, and no limitation of numbers. One side fights desperately to get one goal and the other battles for the opposite goal. The goals are about three miles apart, and any non-player who gets mixed up in this furious scrimmage, which surges all over the town, is likely to rue it.

How, then, was the Prince to start the game with hordes of enthusiasts around him? It was solved this way. A high staging was run out on piles from a back garden over the shallow river Henmore and on to the Shaw Croft. The Prince mounted the staging, caked with some of the mud through which he had had to wade, holding the ball, which was decorated with his coat of arms and the Union Jack.

Captain Bond, the chairman of the Shrovetide committee, said how proud they were that the Prince was taking part in the game; and then the Prince, with the ball poised, replied:

"I am very glad to see so many of you, but if I took any more part in this game than merely throwing in the ball, I can see that I should take no part in one of the engagements I have in Derby this afternoon."

The team cheered and the Prince threw the ball. It was like throwing meat to hungry lions. In an instant there was a riot of legs and arms and shouts and cheers. The mass of players surged to the brink of the river, and then, with wild cries, plunged into the water, splashing and fighting, while the Prince laughed heartily.

Men fell flat in the water, with others on top of them. Then a muddy dripping face emerged, and the player called to the Prince, with a grin: "Well, sir, now you've seen the game, what do you think of it?"

"Jolly fine," shouted the Prince. "Keep it up." He turned to a friend and confessed that he would not care for such strenuous play. He watched the game for three-quarters of an hour.

India Depicted in Brilliant Film

Of the Lowell Thomas film, which he is bringing here in April under the auspices of the Rotary club, the London Daily News has to say:

"He has tried to show us India as it is, and he has brilliantly succeeded."

Civilization Drives Wild Horses to Death

YAKIMA, Wash., March 30.—Two bands of wild horses, comprising 1,000 head on a 150 mile trek from eastern Washington rested Thursday night in Pleasant Valley, 30 miles from Yakima where they are to be slaughtered. They are expected to be driven here tonight.

Four thousand horses have been slaughtered for feed and fertilizer by a Yakima company since its organization a year and a half ago.

As fast as ranges are freed of the wild horse they will be used as grazing lands for sheep and cattle.

ATHENAEUM IS HISTORIC CLUB

LONDON, March 30.—That most historic and exclusive of clubs, the Athenaeum, in Pall Mall, has lately undergone both an outward and an inward regeneration. Its exterior has been emblazoned with a new coat of cream paint. To the structure itself two floors have been added in order that bedrooms for members may be provided. The scheme of redecoration and enlargement has been carried out under the supervision of the president of the Royal Academy, at a cost of £30,000.

The Athenaeum is one of the most exclusive clubs in the world. It was founded by Sir Walter Scott and Thomas Moore as "a place for the association of individuals known for their scientific or literary attainments, artists of eminence in any of the fine arts, and noblemen and gentlemen distinguished as liberal patrons of science, literature or the arts."

"All sorts of stories are told of how these learned members of the Athenaeum keep to themselves. One member, who always occupied the same chair, is said to have remained there dead for three days! Another tale is that a new member, entering for the first time rather timidly, bumped against an elderly member. The younger murmured an apology. The ancient member burst into tears. Thinking he must somehow have hurt the old gentleman seriously the other expressed great concern. "Oh, sir," declared the old gentleman between his sobs, "I have been a member here for 30 years and you are the first man who has ever spoken to me."

The recent alterations have caused the subscription to be raised from 12 to 15 guineas, but this does not check the flow of candidates for election, and there is little hope of passing under four years.

Two May Be Dead in Big Baltimore Blaze

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30.—Two lives were believed to have been lost in the fire which broke out in the Arcade Theatre at Crisfield, Maryland, and wiped out the uptown business section of the town last night, a special despatch of the Baltimore Sun says. Estimates of the loss caused by the destruction of more than a score of business buildings, including two theatres and a hotel, ranged from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

ONCE SAILOR, HERMIT LIVED AMONG STARS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 30.—An old Swedish hermit who spent his life in seclusion from human beings in deep contemplation of the stars of the firmament, has just died in a country home for the aged. He has achieved fame all over Sweden, and the story of his romantic life is now being told.

August Mattsson, once a sailor, many years ago retired to a small and picturesque island in Lake Tisnaren in the province of Nerke in central Sweden, where he built himself a little shanty in the wilderness and lived most of his life in companionship with a couple of goats, a few hens and his beloved stars. The remarkable fact about him was that he had become a learned astronomer, familiar with the works of the leading astronomers of his day and himself a productive genius in the field of astronomy. In front of his little hut he had fixed a small iron table in the rock with an old telescope, where he spent most of his time during clear nights, studying the stars to the accompaniment of the sighing winds in the pines and the many sounds of the forests, all so familiar to his ear. He was a peaceful old man, content with his meagre lot and wrapped up in his studies and astronomical calculations. He did not encourage visitors, and the people of the district told weird and fanciful tales of the old recluse. His fame soon spread, and it became known that he lived in poverty. Newspaper men then came to interview him, and through the medium of the press a sum of money was collected to enable him to live without suffering the want of bare necessities.

August Mattsson is said to have mastered seven languages and wrote his own astronomical treatises in almost perfect French. In 1900 he wrote a learned work, outlining the plan for a new calendarial time system, based on the decimal principle. This he sent to his favorite author, Camille Flammarion, in France, who submitted it to the French Academy. This brought Mattsson a letter from E. Poucher, secretary of the academy, informing him that the members had studied his work and found it most original and worth much attention. The same letter also said that Mattsson was looked upon by Flammarion as a member "tout designe" of the academy. Shortly afterwards he was invited to lecture before the French Academy but did not accept the invitation. When asked why he did not go he simply answered: "How could I, I have my goats to look after."

Few prominent men have received such eulogistic obituaries in the Swedish press as August Mattsson, the humble hermit and lover of stars, and a plan is now discussed to honor his memory by raising a monument on the spot where his hut was situated.

Charles Raymond Thorne was sentenced to three months' imprisonment at the Fort Saskatchewan jail by Mr. Justice Walsh in the criminal court on Thursday for the theft of $90 from a rooming house at Brule on March 20, the property of G. W. Burchell.

Wanted, Double of Arabia's Lawrence

LONDON, March 30.—Big money is waiting for the man who resembles and can fill the part of "Lawrence of Arabia"—Col. T. E. Lawrence, at one time known as the "uncrowned King of Arabia," who is credited with having saved the East for England and who is now a private in the Royal Air Force—in a film version of "The Revolt in the Desert," which is to be the first venture of a new British film company. He must be an expert horseman and able to ride a camel.

The film is to be made in Arabia and a complete filming unit will be sent out in May. A laboratory for developing the film will be established in Jerusalem. Collingwood Hughes, formerly M. P. for Peckham, who is associated with the company, told a press representative that the company is going to build a studio at Welwyn Garden City costing £100,000.

PLAN BIG SUB

Respected Old Timer of Belvedere Passes

Exclusive to Bulletin

BELVEDERE, March 30 — The weather has been very changeable for the past week with some snow and considerable wind.

The death of James Stalley took place Wednesday after a lingering illness and, in spite of medical aid and tender care, he passed away. He was one of the pioneers of the district, [illegible] and went to the U.S.A. in 1882, and in 1904 he came to Belvedere.

"Jim" as he was known by young and old by his kind and generous disposition, was a respected and prosperous citizen and Belvedere feels that it has lost a friend who will be very hard to replace. He leaves four brothers—George, of Belvedere, Walter, of Ottumwa, South Dakota, Thomas, of Cambridge, Eng., John, of Fulbourne, England; and five sisters in England.

[illegible] p.m. Rev. Bateman of [illegible] in charge.

The casket was covered with floral offerings. From brother George and wife, a cross; Mr. and Mrs. A. [illegible] hope, wreath; Grace and A. [illegible] cross; Mr. and Mrs. F. Donnelly, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. J. Roberts, a pillow.

The pallbearers were J. Menzie, O. Smith, B. Graham, F. Donnelly, J. Roberts and W. Johnson.

CAPT. J. SHAW THINKS MUCH LEFT UNDONE

Laborites Displeased at Failure to Adopt Old Age Pensions

Exclusive to Bulletin

CALGARY, March 30.—[illegible]

[illegible]

Tory Chief Away

[illegible] White, leader of the Labor group, said he was [illegible] A. A. McGillivray, K.C., Conservative leader, [illegible] Victoria and [illegible]

Premier Brownlee, speaking in Edmonton shortly after the close of the session said it had been most "satisfactory."

"There are thousands available for farm loans but not one cent to pension our [illegible] and needy pioneers," [illegible] Mr. White [illegible]

Speaking of the power development question Mr. Shaw said: "The government seeks to pay a feigned homage to the public ownership ideal by doing nothing. Our province cannot afford to wander aimlessly about on the field of negotiation."

Doubtful Wisdom

"Without more detailed explanation [illegible] regarding the joint [illegible] for the northern railways, the proposal is properly viewed with considerable suspicion. The province will not suffer from a short delay."

He thought it doubtful wisdom for the government to lay down too many conditions ere an agreement was concluded with the Dominion regarding the merging of the A.P.P. with the R.C.M.P.

Mr. White differed with the Liberal leader on the [illegible] question. He did not think the government's homage was feigned. He was certain that if satisfactory disposal could be made of the northern railways and if the Spray Lakes scheme could be worked out that the government would embark upon a hydro-electric development scheme.

He "exceedingly" regretted the government's attitude on the Old Age Pensions proposal but thought that enabling legislation might be brought down next year.

He was optimistic over the Act to secure the wages of miners. There were unpaid salaries to miners in the province amounting to [illegible]. Pleasure was expressed at the amendment to the Minimum Wage Act which compelled the payment of a wage according to a scale set by law for persons working in so-called trade schools where customers pay for the services rendered by the students.

Oxford and Cambridge Ready for Great Race

PUTNEY, England, March 30.—Strung to the highest pitch of efficiency, the crews of Oxford and Cambridge universities engage in their eighteenth anual race on the Thames tomorrow over a four mile course. Oxford has won 40, Cambridge 38. There has been one tie.

The race has been fixed for 9.45 a.m., the tide being most favorable at that time.

Barring any unforeseen accident the two crews will go to the post as nearly equal as they can be. The race is regarded by most skilled observers as likely to be close although in the betting Cambridge is a slight favorite and some few observers are convinced that it will be a light blue victory.

Sage Advice to Old Parents on Giving Money to Their Grown Children

DEAR MISS DIX—How much should a mother do for her children? I mean financially. I have given to my children with both hands. They are all grown and married and I have helped them buy homes, and set them up in business, and backed them in speculations, and when things prospered they kept all the money themselves and when they lost they came to me for money. [illegible] yet when I refuse them they [illegible] What should I do?

[illegible]

Answer:—I think that parents should help their children to get a start in the world if they can do so without impoverishing themselves, but I think that the parents who give everything to their children are so utterly wrong and foolish that they should be put in a home for the senile.

For you may depend upon it that [illegible] dependent.

It is only the children who are utterly selfish, who care nothing for anybody but themselves, who are willing to take their mothers' and fathers' last cent. And so the parents need to be on their guard against them just as much as they would be against anyone else who was trying to cheat and defraud them.

I have known many cases in which children have induced their mothers and fathers to turn over all of their property to them, promising that they would take care of their dear old parents and cherish them as long as they lived, but I have never known a case in [illegible] arrangement [illegible] work out disastrously for the old people. As soon as the children got the money they found father and mother burdensome and began to snub them and [illegible] them. Many a man has been ousted [illegible] Many a woman has [illegible] in the house she has given to her daughter.

Between mother and father who still have their own property and who can make presents and pay their own way, and mother and father who are empty-handed and from whom the children have squeezed the last cent, there is all the difference between a welcome, flattered and petted guest and a poor relation. Therefore, if you want your children to pay you attention, keep your money so that it will be worth their while to be polite to you when you are old.

[illegible] thing on the face of the earth is a dependent old person who has to eat the bread of charity. This is bitter even if it is doled out by your children [illegible]

You have generously helped your children. You have given them a start. To give them more would be to weaken them. Make them stand on their own feet now and fight their own battles. It will develop them into finer men and women.

MINISTER OF HUNGARY WILL COME TO WEST

MONTREAL, March 30.—Baron Perenyi, minister of the interior for the republic of Hungary, was a guest in Montreal today and is leaving today for Ottawa and a trip through the middle west on a [illegible] tour of investigation of the Hungarian settlements of the prairie provinces.

Baron Perenyi's [illegible] to this country is incidental to his presence at the dedication of the monument on Riverside Drive, New York City, to the memory of Louis Kossuth, who came to the United States following Hungary's defeat in 1849 [illegible] the father [illegible] of Hungarians to the United States.

Grim Secret of Gruesome Isle Is Yielded Up

SAN PEDRO, Cal. March 30—The dead men of Dead Man's island, in the harbor here, were found Thursday.

Buried five feet deep and side by side, they were in rude redwood caskets, in graves up on top of the island. Fifty or maybe a hundred years had passed by since the burials, the finders judged from the condition of the heavy redwood coffins.

And not a mark was found on the coffins or evidence other than skeletons within to tell which of the many legends of Dead Man's island the discovery supported. These legends told by old sea dogs on the waterfront, run from mutiny on a Spanish ship a half century ago to a scourge that hit a ship that was here before there was a harbor, and other tales of pirates and dark deeds.

Two Pay Penalty for Slaying Old Recluse

CANON CITY, Colo., March 30.—Arthur Osborne and Ray Noakes were hanged at the Colorado state penitentiary this morning for the slaying of Fred W. Selack, aged hermit of Grand Lake. Osborne and Noakes, cousins, 23 and 24 years old, respectively, were convicted of first degree murder, following the slaying of Selack, in June, 1926. Evidence was introduced at their trial to show that Selack and Osborne had quarrelled over a fence shortly before the aged recluse was found, hanged to a tree.

Dark, Sad Line Wins Prize For Limerick Contest No. 23

Cheque Goes to Miss M. Gillespie of East Edmonton—Seven More Awards to Be Made

East Edmonton registers another victory in the Bulletin's Add-A-Line Limerick contest No. 23 today as the result of the last line submitted by Miss M. Gillespie, 9339 103A avenue. 'Tis true it's a dark, sad line which the Limerick Editor selected as the best, but anyway, here it is:

'Twas a family reunion they had.
Just to honor their mother and dad.
Then an argument started.
And when the bunch parted.
Black eyes, not "Good-byes" made them sad.

There were several other lines which caught the Limerick Editor's eye such as this one from Stettler: "The honored pair surely were glad" and "The reunion was all to the bad," which dropped in from Luscar, Alta. "Pa's 'heir'-raising stories were sad," was another that received consideration.

Today a cheque for $2 is being mailed to Miss Gillespie. But there are still seven cheques to be forwarded before the contest finally ends, so don't be down-hearted, but watch for the results in the Bulletin daily. Who knows but what it is your turn on Saturday.

INTERPRETER SCARES COURT

VICTORIA, B.C., March 30.—Yu Cheong Leong, official interpreter, startled the assize court here Thursday when he started to draw a gun on a prosecution witness whom he believed had uttered a curse on him in the course of rites of a Chinese oath during the trial of Chew Leong Sing, charged with attempted murder of Wong Lim here on February 5, during an affray. The interpreter restrained himself, but warned the witness.

Police officers crowded forward when the incident occurred and Mr. Justice McDonald delivered a reprimand. Yu Wai was obliged to start over again, signing a declaration consigning his heirs and himself to extinction if he told not the truth, and burned this in front of the [illegible]. He then struck the head from a second chicken without comment. Yu who apologized to the court and agreed to disarm himself for the rest of the trial, is official translator for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Vancouver and produced a permit for the possession of the revolver he carried.

The trial is continuing with the court room double guarded.

Police early Thursday morning took into custody a 16-year-old boy on a charge of stealing a milk bottle containing a dollar bill from a residence at 5939 88th avenue. According to officers' reports the lad admitted the theft and was turned over to the delinquent children's department.

Two 13-year-old boys were apprehended in Woodward's store Thursday afternoon on a charge of stealing Easter eggs. They were allowed to go home after being given a severe warning.

Thereupon the former kaiser's brother-in-law, who is becoming a man without a country, departed for Belgium, where it was announced yesterday that he had been told to move on.

GIRL ALONE

By ANNE AUSTIN, Author of "SAINT AND SINNER"

It did not seem possible— that she was Sally Ford

THIS HAS HAPPENED

SALLY FORD, inmate of a state orphanage, is "farmed out" the summer she is 16 to CLEM CARSON, farmer. There she meets DAVID NASH student and athlete, who is working on the Carson farm for the summer. Carson makes insinuations about David's friendship for Sally and David strikes him. Not knowing whether Carson is dead or not, Sally and David decide to run away. All that night they tramp through fields and unused roads toward the little town of Stanton. At daybreak they cross the railroad track and see a carnival train. Sally instantly spies EDDIE COBB, a former orphanage boy who ran away to join the carnival. The owner of the carnival makes a place for them.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Then Bybee had [illegible] wife [illegible] woman [illegible] thing [illegible] on her [illegible] seemed to feel equally sure that every man must envy him the possession of such a wonderful woman as his wife. His deference toward her touched Sally even as it amused her.

Mrs. Bybee was too good a business woman, however, to let jealousy interfere with her judgment where the show was concerned. She had demurred a little, then had abruptly concurred in Bybee's plan [illegible] Hours of sharp-tongued [illegible] from Mrs. Bybee had resulted in [illegible] being on the platform now, nervously awaiting her turn.

The crowd surged nearer to Sally's platform. The spieler was introducing the giant now, and Jan was rising slowly from his enormous chair, [illegible] his incredible length, standing erect at last, so that his head touched the sloping canvas roof [illegible]

She wondered, as she gazed pityingly and a little fearfully at Jan, how it felt to be three feet taller than even the tallest of ordinary men, and as she wondered she gazed upward into Jan's face and caught something of [illegible] as if the [illegible] boy soul that hid somewhere in that terribly abnormal body of his had resigned itself to eternal sorrow and [illegible]

[illegible] a [illegible] creature of a fairy tale up and down [illegible] platform, then, still [illegible]

[illegible] turned toward Sally, cajoling the crowd away from the giant.

"And here, la-dees and gen-tle-men, [illegible] beautiful [illegible] They may come bigger but they don't come [illegible] for the last because she's the best. I know all you sheiks will agree with me—" Embarrassed snorts of laughter interrupted him. "That's right, boys [illegible] up tonight I'll know that some good- [illegible] her."

"Stand up, Princess Lalia, and let [illegible] boys!"

Sally slipped from her chair and [illegible]

"I declare you make a lot better Princess Lalia than Minnie Brooks did," Mr. Bybee had commented after outfitting Sally. "She's laid down with appendicitis in [illegible] City and we ain't had a [illegible] since—one of the big hits of the show, too."

But the spieler was going on and [illegible] Princess Lalia [illegible]

NATIVE SONS ADDRESSED BY A. M. STEPHEN

British Columbia Poet Delivers Readings Before Local Audience

Predicting that within the next generation the cultured centre of Canada would be west of Winnipeg, A. M. Stephen, Canadian author and poet, addressed a crowded meeting in the Macdonald hotel Thursday night under the auspices of the local branch of the Native Sons of Canada.

Mr. Stephen pointed out that Canada has a great literary future and that the poetry produced here since Confederation is quite the equal of that produced in other countries during the same period of time.

National Consciousness

Urging that Canada needed a national [illegible], Mr. Stephen explained that such a spirit could only be built upon a knowledge of literature and art. He pointed out that since Confederation, 14 million Canadians had emigrated to the United States while the American "Who's Who" contained the names of 809 distinguished Canadians. Giving examples of the fact that Canadian authors and poets had found it necessary to seek appreciation in other countries than their own he said that Charles G. D. Roberts receives more royalties from the [illegible] European state of Czecho-Slovakia than from any one province of the dominion.

"The fault lies," he said, "in our educational system. Canada is the only nation on earth with the unenviable reputation of not making its native literature compulsory in school courses."

Reads Own Poems

He concluded by appealing for support in things Canadian especially from the rising generation of teachers.

Mr. Stephen, whose voice is flexible and sympathetic, delighted his audience by reading poems from his [illegible] volume, "The Land of Singing Waters." Among the selections read were "Capilano," "The Homesteader," "Lords of the Air," "Bells of Samarkand," "Canada and Dream[illegible]."

NABBED AFTER DODGING COPS

NEW YORK, March 30—The three-masted schooner W. E. Litchfield, with a cargo of 36,000 bottle of liquor, casually slipped through the customs patrol in the harbor, only to be seized at her anchorage at Yonkers last night, customs authorities announced today. The craft, with its captain and crew of five, was towed to the barge office at the Battery. The men will be questioned later in the day.

The liquors were valued at $360,000. The craft itself is valued at $50,000.

John H. McGill, deputy surveyor of the port, with a searching squad, was patrolling the river in a customs launch yesterday when one of the "dry" men became suspicious of the schooner. They boarded her but found no one. Below decks and in the mid-hold below heaps of lath, they discovered the liquors. When the crew came on board later they were taken into custody. The prisoners all described themselves as citizens of the United States.

SUES COUNTESS

So great was the volume of water that it quickly spread through the valley taking the farmers by surprise. It continued to spread over the valley, ever deepening until something else occurred. It appears to have broken away from the flooded area at a point several miles south of the lake and adopted another course down a smaller valley which leads into the lake itself. The result was that the lake waters were greatly swelled when the people awoke to view the scene this morning, and a vast amount of water was flowing over the ice in the lake and moving onward to the north outlet.

As far as the city of Saskatoon is concerned, there seems little doubt that a great sight will be witnessed when the great mass of ice starts to move down with the general break-up. However, there does not seem to be any sort of damage here, in the opinion of residents of the lake district. The general opinion is that when the break-up comes there will be a spectacular sight at the jam [illegible] opposite the lake after which the ice will move gradually along with the current.

Refuge Found

Most of the farmers who were turned out of their homes found refuge at the lake resort, representatives of the Star were informed by G. W. Forbes, general merchant at Pike Lake and postmaster, who supplied a great deal of information with regard to the flood. He has been in the district many years and has a thorough knowledge of the country and was thus able to sum up the situation in a clear and concise manner. He was of invaluable assistance to newspapermen in getting some idea of the cause and extent of the flooding.

Others who suffered were given refuge by neighbors living on the higher shores of the lake on the west side.

List of Victims

The following are the farmers who were forced to quit their homes: H. A. Sackville, J. Dowling, Mr. Kenzie, Mr. Pippin, E. Dalhen, Orville Smith, Mrs. J. T. Torgerson, Nels Petersen, M. W. Kenzie, Henry Dalhen, Andrew Dalhen, Alex Corry, Charles Kempster, C. Lester, F. Hovey, John [illegible], James Allison, Louis Erickson, H. Dalhen, W. M. [illegible], Charlie [illegible], Grover Phillips (who lost 10 head of cattle and all his belongings), R. H. Pinkerton (who also lost all), P. A. Newman (who sailed safely away from his flooded farm in a wagon box), Fred Kay (who lost considerable property), Selmer Torgerson, [illegible] Torgerson, Bruce Sawyer, James Smith, M. O. Dalhen, a heavy loser, and W. K. Mercer and Tom Dyrdal.

Inspector Kelly, officer commanding Saskatoon division, S.P.P., Constable Sheridan and Constable Gregory were at the scene of the flood all afternoon Thursday and practically all night. They assisted materially in getting the people safely away from their flooded homes. Consternation reigned in a number of cases, it was reported, and the police were said to have had some difficulty in getting terror-stricken residents away from their homes. One man reported that he had been with the police and the officers were forced to draw their guns in some cases, but this report was not corroborated.

Saskatoon in Danger

"It doesn't look any too good," said City Engineer George D. Archibald this morning regarding the prospect of the Pike Lake ice jam sweeping down on Saskatoon's traffic bridges.

The words were spoken at 11 o'clock, a few minutes before the engineer, with City Commissioner Andrew Leslie, left Saskatoon for the scene of the flood. They drove out with Inspector John Kelly, officer commanding Saskatoon division provincial police.

Asked if he felt anxiety for the safety of Saskatoon's bridges, Mr. Archibald answered that he could not say whether or not there was any danger. He intended to look over the situation and until he had appraised it could not state whether or not an attempt would be made to dynamite the ice jam, which stretched eight miles along the river, 30 to 40 feet high.

Mr. Archibald was accompanied also by Edmund Lehmann, manager of the Saskatoon General Electric, who knows the flooded country intimately and is acquainted with practically every settler. They expected to return to the city later in the day.

LIMIT POWER OF MINISTER

Bulletin Staff Correspondent

OTTAWA, March 30.—The power of the minister of national revenue to get an arbitrary valuation for duty purposes on natural products has been abolished so far as the individual minister is concerned.

Hereafter an order in council will be necessary to impose such arbitrary protective duties, the power having been taken by the cabinet. Strong protests were registered [illegible] by western members and the government's action is the result. In recent years this power has been exercised several times by the minister to put prohibitive duties on fruit, potatoes and other natural products.

Cross examined as to the suggestion that there was a personal element in the case and that the Gorgichuks and Pawluks were out to "frame" him, Elock replied that he knew not why such should be the case, unless it was because he had arrested one of the Pawluks on a seduction charge, a charge which had been effectively disposed of when Pawluk had married the girl.

Money Owing on Car

Accused was asked regarding a six cylinder car he purchased last year on his pay as a detective. It was adduced that there was a balance of $903 to be paid.

Alleged attempts at bribery in an effort to "frame" Elock, were disclosed by Andrew Elock, brother of accused, at Thursday afternoon sitting of the Criminal court during Elock's trial for perjury in connection with the trial for arson last November of Eli Pawluk.

Andrew Elock, on the witness stand, told of a conversation he had had with Osanti Gorgichuk from whom accused is alleged to have demanded $1,000 to "fix" an appeal of John Gorgichuk against a two-year sentence for assault.

Gorgichuk also had said he didn't give William Elock any money and furthermore Pawluk had offered him $800 to say he had paid money. Gorgichuk also had said he had told William that the Pawluks were willing to spend $1,000 each to "frame" him.

Gorgichuk had been willing to sign an affidavit stating that he had never given William any money.

Got Into Trouble

Bill Yaremico stated he had met Osanti Gorgichuk when he returned from Elock's preliminary trial at Vegreville. Gorgichuk had said: "By God, John got me into this trouble. Why did he say I gave money to Elock. Now we have got into so much trouble over it."

Yaremico said he asked Gorgichuk if money had been given Elock, to which Gorgichuk replied, "No, I didn't give money to Elock. It was only that fool John who said the words and got us into all this trouble."

Fred Iwaschuk told of having been at a Vegreville lawyer's office in January. There had been drinks and John Gorgichuk had tried to persuade his father Osanti to change his story and say he had given money to Elock. Osanti replied he was scared and the lawyer had said he would see the attorney general so that he would not go to jail. Osanti had replied, "May lightning strike you; what are you trying to do to me?"

In Peace River

Miss Annie Elock said that Gorgichuk never had spent a night at her father's house as alleged and she had never seen the man until last autumn. John Elock corroborated this evidence. He also signed for a telegram from Mike Dromrsky to Wm. Elock asking him to be at the station to meet the Vegreville train on Saturday, March 5.

Inspector William Edward Watkins Hancock, A.P.P., gave evidence that Elock was on duty at Peace River from June 18 to 22, during which time accused was alleged to have had dealings in this city regarding the money.

Mike Dromrsky was on the train from Vegreville with Osanti. He met Elock outside the station and together they went to a wedding and a christening. Afterwards he and Osanti went to the Castle hotel, where they stayed all night.

Henry Brace said he had known Elock for many years as an efficient and faithful officer of the law.

Canadian Minister in U. S. Tells About Great Mineral Empire in Northland

HON. V. MASSEY SPEAKS ON NEW CANADIAN SEA

Thrills Hearers With Glowing Picture of Canada's Mineral Wealth

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., March 30.—Canada is adding another ocean to her avenues of transportation, Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister to the United States, said in the course of an address before the Commonwealth Club here today. Instead of thinking in terms of two oceans, Canadians were beginning to take a third, the Arctic, into their national consciousness, and they were building another gateway to the world's commerce at Fort Churchill on Hudson Bay.

"Nature has been good to us," said Mr. Massey. "We are only beginning to understand how good she has been. But Nature has imposed upon us the test of geographical obstacles and we have had to overcome these obstacles before Nature's partnership was [illegible] established.

Our conflict with Nature was on the western frontier at first. For years we called the west barren land because there were no trees, we [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] that grew. Recently an Alberta wheat field covering 1,300 acres produced a crop of 57 bushels of wheat to the acre.

Great Mine Wealth

"For a much longer period we considered the northern frontier barren land as well. This perhaps was because there seemed to be little else than rock in the north. Now we are finding that our northern frontier [illegible] treasure of minerals and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] incidentally we are solving one of our national problems. One of the great tasks we had in Canada was to weld on the band of population from east to west and make it continuous. The [illegible] of rocky country between east and west with every year is proving more productive. We used to think in terms of two oceans in Canada. Over the doors of our parliament appears the words 'The wholesome sea is at her gates, her gates both east and west.' We are busy constructing another gate in the north at Fort Churchill. The Arctic Ocean is no longer something we merely look at on the map but it coming to an increasing extent into our national consciousness. A provincial cabinet minister said not long ago that it would soon be possible to get into a sleeping car in Toronto and alight within the Arctic Circle. Incidentally our new gateway will bring Western Canada 1,000 miles nearer to Great Britain than does the present avenue of transportation.

"When I said 'our northern front' I might simply have said 'our frontier.' The southern boundary is not precisely a frontier but is rather a line where two separate civilizations meet in an atmosphere of friendliness and understanding. We are very much at home on either side of the line. You have made me feel so conscious of your hospitality and your friendliness ever since I came here, and I am glad to feel that an ever-increasing number of visitors from your country are being made to feel welcome in Canada. An indication of how steadily the tide of visitors from the United States is flowing into Canada can be found in the fact that in the Province of Ontario alone last year 300,000 autos were temporarily admitted from the United States."

plant in September the company will have a daily capacity of 60,000 loaves, but in addition there will be the cakes and pastry branches, which in the past have contributed much to make the name of McGavin a household word.

There are three requisites which the purchasing public of food products demand in this age, sanitation, quality and purity, and it was with these in mind that plans for the new plant are being carried out. During the past [illegible] years McGavin Limited have [illegible] a steady increase in the volume of business transacted which is abundant proof of the purity and excellence of its product. With the demands of an ever-increasing market it is imperative that the firm keep abreast of the times and for this reason the plans for the new plant call for one which will be the embodiment of hygienic excellence.

Automatic Machinery

Automatic machinery of the most modern and costly type will be installed, orders having already been placed with the Canadian Baker Perkins Co., which is a branch of the famous Joseph Baker Co., Limited of London, Eng., the world's oldest and greatest manufacturers of food machinery.

Principal among the new units which will be installed will be a travelling oven 70 feet in length and 9 feet wide on the inside measurements and which will cost approximately $50,000 while inclusive of the equipment which goes with it the unit alone will cost $110,000. This oven is the only one of its kind in the West and its installation will place the McGavin firm on an extremely high plane of production efficiency.

The same conception may be had of the oven's capabilities, it may be stated that it is designed to do the work of 20 ovens which are now in use, its output being 3,500 pounds of bread an hour. In addition four large mixing machines are also to be placed in service each at a cost of $10,000.

In the basement of the proposed new building, there will be storage space for from 12,000 to 15,000 sacks of flour. Flour handling equipment of the most modern type is being installed so that sifting and blending can be carried out in the most scientific and sanitary manner.

Many New Features

The automatic features of the new plant will be a revelation to Edmontonians and visitors alike. From the time the flour starts on its way through the various machines the process is automatic throughout.

Through the construction of this new building it will give to McGavin Limited practically an entirely new plant to add to their present plant. A decidedly increased pay-roll will also result, for while a staff of 50 men are now employed it will be necessary to employ more and more help to take care of the company's growing requirements.

From the time McGavin Bros. entered the bakery field in Edmonton in 1913 through the purchase of the business then conducted by James Simpson, until the present moment the path has been one of steady progress. James McGavin, president of the company, learned the business which has now made him famous back in Scotland where he won many awards for his prowess in producing bread and bakery products. Realizing the opportunities of the business in Edmonton, he quickly established McGavin Bros. bakery shortly after his arrival.

History of Progress

From the outset the business thrived under their management, and the following year it was necessary to enlarge the capacity of the plant. In 1916 the plant was again remodelled in order to double its capacity, while in 1919, in order to keep abreast of the fast-growing industry, the production capacity was again doubled.

In 1920 a further expansion resulted when the firm bought out the plant and business operated by Charles W. Campbell, one of the pioneer bakers of Edmonton and it was at this time that the McGavin Bros. formed the Western Canada Bakeries Limited. [illegible] years later the name was changed to McGavin Limited and it has remained so ever since.

According to the auditor's report McGavin sales have shown a steady and substantial increase. For example and considering the sales of 1923 as 100 per cent., the following illuminating figures are derived: 1924, 104 [illegible]; 1925, 134.39; 1926, 147.04; 1927, 159 [illegible]. For January and February of the present year the sales have been 21.6 per cent. in excess of the corresponding months a year ago.

To Float Bond Issue

But while McGavin, Limited, have blazed a path of success down through the last 15 years, stamping them as one of the most prosperous bakery firms in the dominion, they have heretofore kept the "good things" in the matter of accrued profits, to themselves. But in connection with the present project, it is their intention to allow their customers to become business partners with them in a venture which, judging by past records, seems assured of success.

They have decided to offer a stock issue of $250,000 of 7 per cent. cumulative preferred shares on the sinking fund basis and redeemable. On a winding up of the company, holders of the preferred shares will be entitled to receive $105 per share and accrued dividends before any property is distributed to the common shareholders. The company has common stock amounting to $500,000 which has been authorized and issued. The announcement of the preferred stock issue may be found elsewhere in this issue of the Bulletin.

The entire proceeds from the sale of the issue will be expended in the erection of the new building and equipment. In addition there will be sufficient to meet the cost of the new stable that is just being completed, and the erection of a modern garage.

The average net earnings of the company for the past five years, according to a certificate by the company's auditors, have been in excess of three times the dividend requirements on the proposed issue of $250,000 of 7 per cent. preferred shares, and the net earnings for 1927 were in excess of four times such dividend requirements.

Edmonton's Own

McGavin, Limited, might be [illegible] Edmonton's own. It is owned and operated by its citizens and has developed in our midst, but Edmonton has been and will be its headquarters. There are all too few of such successful and enterprising firms in the city, and the great success of this [illegible] is correspondingly gratifying [illegible] Edmontonians.

TAXATION OF WHEAT POOL UNDER DEBATE

OTTAWA, March 30.—D[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] will now go to the senate.

Robert Gardiner (U.F.A., Acadia) gave it as the opinion of his group that the government was [illegible] too far in the reduction of income tax.

John Evans (Progressive, Rosetown) said that nothing had been done by the government to lower the cost of living, but a substantial reduction was being given to those who had sky-rocketed the prices during the war.

C. H. Cahan (Liberal, St. Lawrence-[illegible]) asked whether the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] taxes.

Mr. Gardiner declared that no profits were made by the wheat pool. It was merely a number of farmers banded together to dispose of their product.

Swung Axe at Police, Vegrevillian Jailed

VEGREVILLE, March 30.—For wielding an axe at a police officer while the latter was in the course of effecting his arrest for wife-beating, Nikolai Nikiforuk, the head of a large, destitute family, was today sentenced by Magistrate Russell in the local police court, to six months imprisonment. On the wife-beating charge the accused was fined $10 or 30 days.

Dr. Manion declared [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] too little. "I ask him to explain, the leader of this party is sick in bed today and cannot be in the house," he added.

No Reflection

Mr. Cannon regretted Mr. Bennett's absence. If he had been in the house he was sure no reference would have been made to Baldy Robb. For one reason Baldy Robb was convicted for crimes in the Peace River election. The resolution before the house dealt only with the election in Athabaska.

He did not wish, said Mr. Cannon, to cast any reflections on the character of the leader of the opposition. He felt, however, that if Dr. Manion discussed the question of whether Baldy Robb's name should have been mentioned with his leader, Mr. Bennett would say it should not ha[illegible]

Mr. Cannon replied that he made no retraction because he had said nothing which should be retracted. He felt that he had greater confidence in the reputation of the opposition leader than the member for Fort William.

W. G. MacQuarrie (Conservative, New Westminster) argued that the dominion government in the forgery cases did not have to wait for the attorney-generals of the provinces before starting prosecutions. The dominion had its own police and could act on its own behalf.

The motion of Mr. Garland was carried without a division.

NEWFLD. UNION WITH CANADA IS DISCUSSED

OTTAWA, March 30.—Discussing in the senate Thursday Senator [illegible] resolution to the effect that favorable consideration should be given to any overture that might be made by Newfoundland to enter the union, Senator G. Farrell Says Too Much Money Caused Downfall of Cocky Boston Fighter

KNOW your SPORTS

What is generally regarded as the shortest fight on record?

Is it possible for a relief pitcher to lose a ball game on one pitched ball?

Did Howard Ehmke, now with the Athletics, ever play in the old Federal league?

With one punch Battling Nelson knocked out William Rossler in 1902 at Harvey, Ill. Two seconds after the first round started Rossler was on the floor. The fight lasted [illegible] of actual fighting.

Positively. In a game at New York during season of 1921 Martin of the Chicago Cubs, sent in as relief pitcher was greeted with a home run, ending the game on first ball pitched.

Yes. He was sold by Los Angeles to Washington in 1915, but joined the Buffalo Feds instead. He failed to show much, so he was not claimed by the Senators when peace was established. He returned to Los Angeles and later was sold to the Athletics.

EQUALS WORLD'S RECORD

Sammy McBeam, a California schoolboy, recently ran the 100 in 9 3-5 seconds, equal to the world's record for that distance. It may not be recognized officially as he is said to have had a slight wind behind him.

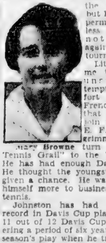
BILL JOHNSTON'S LEGS ARE PLAYED OUT SAYS CRITIC

Mary K. Browne Thinks Californian Tennis May Get Back Into "Big Ten" — Has Been Famous Player

BY MARY K. BROWNE
Exclusive to Bulletin

NEW YORK, March 30.—Little Bill Johnston has passed from the ranks of the big ten of American tennis for the year of 1928, but I do not believe permanently, unless he decides not to compete again in eastern tournaments.



Mary Browne

Little Bill told me just after his unsuccessful attempt to hold the fort against the French offensive that he would not join the tennis "A. E. F." on its pilgrimmage to return the "Holy Tennis Grail" to the United States. He has had enough Davis Cup play. He thought the youngsters should be given a chance. He wanted to devote himself more to business and less to tennis.

Johnston has had a remarkable record in Davis Cup play, having won 11 out of 12 Davis Cup matches covering a period of six years up until last season's play when he tried something new, entirely new. He thought he could reach top form with only 10 days' practice on grass and did not enter any of the preliminary tournatournaments leading up to the Davis Cup matches.

Conserves Strength

He felt he should conserve every atom of strength in his scarcely more than an atom of body because he knew the French tactics were to prolong the rallies with the idea of exhausting him. Big Bill Tilden overdid things in the opposite direction. He played enough tennis to spread thickly over a period of two seasons. Funny, we could not have had two more widely different methods of training for the same event.

Both were wrong in going to opposite extremes. The Frenchmen carefully conserved their energy, holding in reserve their best efforts until the crucial moment arrived, when they then unleashed their full strength.

How my heart ached for Little Bill in these historical matches which gave the famous trophy to France! His last match against Henri Cochet decided the issue. Little Bill struggled valiantly against too great odds. Here was youth in its first flush of Davis Cup play pitted against the tired and frail-looking veteran of seven years of defense.

Glorious in Defeat

Bill Johnston was glorious in defeat as he always had been in victory. He never gave way when he was twice within a point of losing the match. He rallied and took the game and the set, only to fall a victim finally to his own lack of stamina, rather than his lack of tennis equipment.

I remember then being struck with the thought that here was Little Bill with just as fine strokes as ever, one of the greatest match players the game has ever had, just as keen of eye and brave of heart—but his legs had lost the urge to go.

Legs Go First

Sports history repeating itself. Further proof that legs go first. At that identical moment when Johnston was playing a losing game On Foot, the older veterans of international polo, Devereux Stephenson, were playing a winning game because they were mounted on fast ponies with young legs.

I have known Little Bill for many years and know him to be sensitive about his frail physique. He hates to be babied. Time and again he has left the east determined to put on pounds of weight, but he cannot do it. He has never weighed over 130 pounds and loses rapidly when playing in competition.

Well I remember the historic match when Big Bill and Little Bill, each with "two legs" on the national trophy, met in the finals and the match decided the permanent possession of the trophy. Tilden's entire game was designed to exhaust Johnston. The first two sets he just kept the ball in play as much as possible. Tilden told me afterwards he dared not bring forth his best shots against an untired Johnston, for they would come back and he, Tilden, would lose confidence.

Wins First Two

Johnston won the first two sets and many thought that Little Bill would make it three straight. However, before the third set progressed very far it was not hard to see the handwriting on the wall. Billy began to tire. His shots lost their sting and depth. Then Tilden started to fire over his cannonball service and stinging drives and Little Bill wilted under the steady barrage. He played the last set on his nerve, completely exhausted and lost the match.

Little Bill in discussing the match afterward, told me that when he began to tire, Tilden seemed to assume the proportions of a giant and to grow larger and larger. I could visualize Little Bill looking around frantically for his bean stalk.

Looks Like "Finis"

It is to be hoped that tennis fans have not seen the last of Little Bill in tennis competitions, but it would be unkind to expect more of him in Davis Cup play.

Same Old Charley

Charley Paddock, as indicated in the picture above, does not have to stay in high gear to win all his races. He is shown pulling up easily in winning the 300-yard dash in a recent meet between Los Angeles A. C. and Stanford. That he is reaching top form was proven when he did 300 yards in 31 seconds in an attempt against record of 30 2-5 seconds.

HOW THE MIGHTY SHARKEY HAS TAKEN BIG TUMBLE!

Might Have Been Next Challenger of Gene Tunney But What's the Use, He Already Had Neat Sum of Three Hundred Thousand

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
Exclusive to Bulletin

NEW YORK, March 30.—No fighter in modern days arose from the middle class as rapidly as Jack Sharkey and no fighter of prominence descended as quickly as he did when he slipped.

In less than a year Sharkey pulled himself from the ranks of an ordinary young heavyweight to the position where he was the outstanding choice as the challenger for the championship. William Muldoon among others saw in him the next champion.

Then, with almost the same speed, he started sliding and in less than a year found himself a thoroughly discredited fighter, a fighter removed from $100,000 shots to the circuit of small-time clubs.

Many reasons are being offered to explain the failure of a young man with the potential qualities of a champion, who rose within an inch of the heights and flopped almost to the bottom.

They say that he is yellow and the ones who say it are those who grab a handy reason when they have no better one.

They say that he fell from a swell-head. It is not to be denied that he was a vain, arrogant and flippant young man.

Did Dempsey Do It?

They say also that Jack Dempsey ruined him. There may be something in the legend that they're never any good after Dempsey gives them a beating, even if Tunney does brand it a myth.

It is a fact of record that Sharkey made mistakes in training and in fighting that must have been the result of a private opinion that he knew better than any of his counsellors. And it is quite certain that if the [illegible] head.

The charge that he is yellow, however, is not fair. He had to have courage to fight Harry Wills and to mix punches with Dempsey when no other heavyweight in the world was willing to try it.

It is true that he couldn't "take it," but there is a vast difference between inability to "take it" and unwillingness to take it.

When Dempsey was training for the Sharkey fight, Leo Flynn, who was handling Dempsey, openly charged that Sharkey was yellow and that he would cry foul when he was hit in the stomach.

"That is right," Tommy Loughran said one day during that time. "I know a lot about Sharkey. He can't take it in the body. But it is not that he is lacking in courage. He is not strong in the stomach and punches in the body hurt him so much he has to back up. He has a natural frailty that you never would expect in an otherwise strong and powerful physique."

The Real Reason

The real reason for his failure, we think, is one that is not quoted so much because it does not seem possible that in these days anyone could resist the temptation of a million dollars.

The other reasons given above were contributing factors, but we believe, and some of those who know him best agree in the belief, that [illegible]

[illegible] idea that a sudden fortune of [illegible] hundred thousand dollars and [illegible] surance of a comfortable [illegible] life led him into dissipation, [illegible] cess destroyed his incentive and dulled his ambition.

Fighters are all supposed to be mercenary and it may sound unreasonable to assume that any fighter would be satisfied with his first two or three hundred thousand when he could go after a million.

But temperament exists among athletes and it works strangely. [illegible] is one young fighter, Knute H[illegible], for instance, who might realize [illegible] $50,000 a year if he had ambition [illegible] heart for his work. [illegible] tent with a salary of $100 a week [illegible] is paid to him by his managers [illegible] purses over that amount go to [illegible] managers.

No Ambition

Sharkey lost his ambition. Perhaps if he had been forced to work [illegible] during the brief period of success [illegible] would be [illegible] for a [illegible] of at least $500,000 that is waiting for the next challenger in a championship fight.

SLIGHT DROP AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, March 30—All grades were dull on the Winnipeg Grain exchange today and prices generally followed a reactionary trend. Final quotations were ⅛c to ⅝c lower than the previous day.

Nominal purchases by seaboard interests in the early part of the session and intermittent spreading operations constituted the day's business.

New York advices reported fair acceptance of both wheat and rye overnight, but this failed to influence prices locally.

Scattered sales of oats for domestic supply was the only feature of the coarse grains.

Winnipeg Grain Letter

By James Richardson & Sons

WINNIPEG, March 30—Wheat reacted today with heavy selling of October in evidence throughout. Part of this was profit-taking, and the balance selling by prominent elevator companies. American markets show greater weakness with liberal profit-taking induced by failure of Liverpool to follow yesterday's advance. World shipments exclusive of North America, show a slight increase over last week, while North American clearances are estimated at 7,000,000 bushels. Seaboard reported very moderate business in wheat overnight. Liverpool closed ⅛ to ⅜ lower while Buenos Aires at noon was ¼ lower. There was some further moisture reported in the southwest but the forecast is for generally fair and warmer. Market is improved by today's profit-taking but would await further recession before making purchases.

PARIS BOURSE

PARIS, March 30—Trading was quiet and prices steady on the Bourse today.

Montreal Stocks

NOON CLOSING STOCK LETTER

MONTREAL, March 30—With the exception of International Nickel and the Brazilian issues which displayed relatively small sales, volume of trading other issues was comparatively small this morning. As a rule price changes were not very important, although three or four provided noteworthy exceptions.

Howard Smith, which touched a high of 140 and closed yesterday at 127, opened this morning at 130, advanced to 135 and finished at 132 for a net gain of seven points. Abitibi from a high of 81 dropped to close at 79½, off 1½ points.

Brompton, selling ex-dividend, 50 cents, declined 2 points to 61. Wayagmack sold as high as 108½, but at the noon close was changing hands at 106½. The most active stock of the entire list was International Nickel. It opened 1 point higher at 95, and moved up to a high of 98, closing at 97¾, for a total gain of 3¾ points. Lyall scored the biggest advance in the specialty group, being up 6 at 78, the best price in many years. B. C. Fish gave a pleasant surprise to shareholders in gaining 1½ to 13½, compared with a low of seven recorded after the announcement of the dividend payments last month. Opening trading in Brazilian took place at the high of 231. Later it slipped down to 229, and finished at 230. The new issue seems to be gaining in popularity every day and after duplicating the record of 59, closed unchanged at 58¼.

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 30—Trading on the stock exchange this morning was rather mixed, several issues prominent during the last few days weakening, while others scored gains. The price trend, however, was lower.

Pend Oreille sold off to $20.10, a net loss of $1.40, and Premier forfeited ten cents to $2.90. Grandview closed at 69, off three cents; Porter Idaho lost 11 cents to 71 and Rufus 4½ cents to 42.

Whitewater common advanced 7 cents to $2.77, and Glasair scored a similar advance to 47. George Copper improved 25 cents to $4.75. Big Missouri and Cork Province were one point stronger.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, March 30—The stock market gave another impressive demonstration of strength today as buying operations were resumed in recent speculative favorites and a brisk demand developed for the copper, public utility, rubber, steel and rails. Trading showed a marked expansion in volume, with the ticker falling far behind the market.

Radio again was the individual feature, soaring 11⅛ points to a new high at 182, on buying influenced by reports of an over-extended short interest. General Motors again was taken in hand and bid up five points to 190 by early afternoon. General Electric jumped 8⅛ points to 157⅛, the highest price since the splitting up of the old stock several years ago. Copper shares were heavily bought on a further increase in the price of the red metal.

Adams Express, which was weak yesterday, rallied 8⅛ points and Dupont extended its gain to nearly 8 points. Among the dozen or so issues to mark up 3 points or more were American International, Brooklyn Edison, Consolidated Gas, Lambert, Montana Power, Park and Tilford, Union Carbide, Union Bag and Paper and United States Rubber.

Rails presented several points of strength, Canadian Pacific showing early gains of 3 points or more.

The closing was strong. When Radio sold at 188½ it had accomplished a gain of more than 100 points since last February, one of the most remarkable advances ever achieved by an active issue on the exchange.

Total sales were 4,300,000 shares.

JAZZ TO HAVE NO EFFECT ON WORLD MUSIC

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 30.—Jazz has had and will have no effect upon the music of the world, thinks Dooms Taylor, New York composer.

"The only thing we can give jazz credit for accomplishing," he said, "is an increase in the technique of wind instrument players.

"Jazz in itself is not music. It is rhythm and rhythm alone. It is made for dancing to and not for listening to."

Taylor, whose opera, "The King's Henchman", was produced last year by the Metropolitan Opera Company and is considered one of the first real American Operas, pointed out that the "jazzed" versions of the classics "lose their beauty because of the flexibility and unmeasured time beat of music which is not intended for dancing.

"Music must affect the emotions," Taylor declared. "You can't cry over a jazz orchestra, no matter how fine it is. But a symphony orchestra, playing a jazz piece, without sticking to the narrows of the formal two-four time, can pull you apart emotionally.

"This does not mean that jazz does not have its place, for it has a very well defined place in the music consciousness of America. But it is for the fact, not the heart.

"A jazz orchestra is nothing more than a glorified brass band, very subdued and technically perfect. But the strings are neglected and without them no real music can be produced."

Taylor believes the world is just beginning to emerge from a post-war rejection of all emotion.

Dr. McCoy Praises Lecturer to Be Heard in City on Sunday

Readers of Dr. McCoy's health articles will be interested to know that he has spoken eulogistically of Dr. Frank E. Dorchester, of Vancouver, to lecture here Sunday.

Lecturing in the Vancouver Hotel ballroom, Dr. McCoy is reported by the Morning Star as having said: "In Vancouver you have one of the greatest nature cure authorities in America. I refer to Dr. Dorchester."

Commencing Sunday evening, Dr. Dorchester's lectures will continue on Monday and Tuesday. His subjects are announced as "Common Sense in Health," "Mind, Meals and Muscles," and "Mental-Physical Efficiency." He has also promised to give an exhibition of mental-muscular control that is quite uncanny.

Will Develop Ceramic Industry on Prairies

SASKATOON, March 30—The Western Canada Clay Products Workers' association, in convention at the University of Saskatchewan, the only western university with a ceramic department, selected the following officers for the year: H. Beilhorn, of Redcliffe, president; W. H. Alsip, of Winnipeg, vice-president; H. C. Hargrave, of Redcliffe, secretary, and the following directors: Alex. Snyder, Portage la Prairie; G. A. Calvert, Estevan, and F. A. Boiduan, of Bruno.

The convention, after two days of discussion, closed, expressing determination to develop the only clay products industry in the three prairie provinces to the fullest extent possible during the coming building season, the outlook of which is considered to be bright.

Hans Lobert, veteran third baseman of other years, has signed as coach with the New York Giants for this season.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

A strong cast and a remarkable story combine effectively to furnish an evening of excellent entertainment with more than the usual amount of inspiration, at the Capitol theatre, where Paramount's film version of Warwick Deeping's novel "Doomsday" is now playing.

Florence Vidor is the star of this attraction and Gary Cooper is her more than ordinarily handsome and talented leading man.

"Doomsday" is a picture with a moral, but don't let that keep you from seeing it. The moral is no sugar coated bromidic pill. It is woven in startling fashion through the fabric of a love story taken from life as it actually is. A love story that is as different from the usual one as day is from night.

AT THE RIALTO

The vagaries of life around the concessions at the world's greatest amusement park are vividly pictured in "Coney Island" which was shown for the first time last night at the Rialto theatre. With Lois Wilson, Lucila Mendez, Rudolph Cameron, Eugene Strong, and William Irving in the cast, this picture proved extremely entertaining.

As the added feature on the same program there is a splendid Western entitled, "The Fighting Hombre". All that the title implies in the way of action, and a liberal over-flow of thrills and lover interest in addition.

On the stage at 3 and 9 p.m. Cappello and Oliver will entertain in a selection of songs on the Hawaiian and Spanish guitar.

AT THE DREAMLAND

Of course, it was all in "film."

The manner in which the problem is solved to the happiness of all is an interesting climax in "The Secret Hour," which is at the Dreamland theatre today.

AT THE MONARCH

Not even a policeman will be able to find a technical fault in the manner in which the actual police drill team scenes in "The Shield of Honor," the Universal which is at the Monarch theatre here today were handled.

They are said to be perfect in every detail for with the exception of the more prominent figures in the cast, who impersonate officers in the picture, all the other police officers are members of the Los Angeles police department and were actually on a field day when the picture was taken.

AT THE PANTAGES

Imagine Miss Mento Everitt, the beautiful and artistic leading lady of the Gordinier Players, as a wizened up, cranky, stingy old woman, feared by her rivals in the leading stock-broking offices and by her relatives! Such is the character of "Harriett Breen", which Miss Everitt portrays in the Gordinier Players' presentation of "Mother's Millions", a comedy drama which is drawing capacity houses to the Pantages theatre this week.

Despite her nerve-tensing life, her economies, and the necessity of being constantly on the alert against the plots that were hatched to separate her from her millions, Mrs. Breen was at heart a kind and affectionate mother and friend, but she seldom showed this side of her nature. In Miss Everitt's hands the character is delineated in a most interesting manner, while the other members of the company give their usual excellent support.

Night performances today and Saturday, and the usual popular-priced matinee will terminate the local presentation of "Mother's Millions", a play that has already created much favorable comment in Edmonton. There are still good seats available for tonight's show.

AT THE EMPRESS

Douglas Fairbanks again "rang the bell" with his new United Artists production, Douglas Fairbanks as "The Gaucho", which is playing all this week at the Empress theatre. Romance, tense action, originality of treatment and captivating humor characterize this story of the South American border.

The star appears as a Robin Hood of the pampas, the dauntless captain of a band of outlaw riders, who captures a beautiful shrine city under the nose of the usurper's troops. The Fairbanks of old is in a freshly entrancing setting and he plays with the bravado and whimsical ardor suitable to the clime and its emotional people.

AT THE PRINCESS

Those who have not yet seen "The Love Thrill," the Universal-Jewel production, starring Laura La Plante, now at the Princess theatre, have a treat in store for them that will long be remembered.

To begin with, the charming Laura has this time been given a good story—one of the most natural and at the same time most original screen plots yet unfolded. It moves along easily and swiftly and climaxes in a succession of thrills that will bring a cheer from the most jaded.

COMING TO EMPIRE

"Wings" can be safely put in the class of "The Big Parade" and "What Price Glory". It is a war picture, but entirely different from other war pictures—even different from "The Big Parade" and its sister, "What Price Glory". Its author utilized the aeroplane, this modern invention, to build up his dramatic situations. And, indeed, he has succeeded. The spectator is thrilled almost throughout the entire length. It is difficult for one to describe the thrills one feels in the sight of one plane attacking another plane; of one group of planes attacking another group, and later seeing one or two or more planes, downed, and falling to the earth in flames. They are magnificent sights—they are, in fact, so magnificent, so impressive, so thrilling, that it is doubtful if one should feel more excited even if one were to watch actual aeroplane battles.

"Wings" opens a week's engagement at the Empire theatre on Monday, April 2.

When Dorchester Spoke

(By Dr. J. B. Goldstone)

It was in the Hotel Vancouver Ballroom—one of a crowd of 2000 attentive listeners—that I first heard Dr. Frank E. Dorchester.

DR. F. E. DORCHESTER

I was a hardened lecture-goer—had heard every speaker on health and psychology that came my way.

As I settled back in my seat I expected to hear the usual preaching about the need for strict dieting, exercise, moderation, etc.—but that was where I got the surprise of my life. It turned out to be the most interesting, fascinating lecture I had ever heard!

Here was a man who "spake with authority," who interpreted health in terms of success, happiness and efficiency; who gave me an understanding of the fundamental laws of life; who proclaimed a philosophy of health that was so simple and practical that it instantly appealed to my common sense and reason.

And when, at the end of his lecture, he demonstrated to us the wonderful body his own methods had built for him, and the marvelous control his mind exercised over it, I left the lecture saying to myself: "Here is a man with a message for the millions — a health teacher extraordinary. To follow his advice is to reap the priceless rewards of health, happiness and success." And I know that the rest of those 2000 people went home with the same conviction.

Decide Now to hear Dr. Dorchester when he gives his series of three free lectures in Edmonton.
